H.M.S. ADVENTURE STANDING BY TAIKOO TUG

RACE TO RESCUE THROUGH STORM

GALLANT BATTLE OF SALVAGE VESSEL

COAL RUNNING SHORT: ENGINES GIVE TROUBLE

LEAVING HONGKONG AT 9.30 O'CLOCK YESTERDAY MORNING, H.M.S. ADVENTURE REACHED THE SIDE OF THE STORM-POUNDED SALVAGE TUG, "TAIKOO," AT 2 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING, HAVING RACED THROUGH A GALE OF NEAR-TYPHOON INTENSITY IN ANSWER TO DISTRESS SIGNALS.

The Adventure is now standing by the still labouring "Taikoo" and escorting her towards Tourane Bay, on the Indo-China coast. The salvage ship's engines are giving her trouble and she has only sufficient coal to last her two days. Even though the weather may moderate, she could not turn and push her way back to Hongkong under the circumstances.

The little ship has made a gallant battle through the storm which caught her off Pratas and drove her miles to the south-west. The plight of the salvage crew of 100 which she carried has been miserable.

After several hours of searching, with her searchlights continually sweeping the storm-tossed waters, H.M.S. Adventure picked up the "Taikoo" at 2 o'clock this morning.

The tug was still fighting its way through severe weather, but its officers and crew were reported safe.

However, the starboard engine has been damaged and this is affecting the boat's progress through the high-running seas.

HEADS FOR TOURANE.

This morning, a wireless message was despatched from the Adventure stating that owing to the fact the tug had only sufficient coal for a further two days' steaming and was unable to turn northwards, it had been decided to abandon efforts to reach Hongkong, and the "Taikoo," escorted by the warship, is making for Tourane Bay on the French Indo-China coast.

The position in which the "Taikoo" was picked up was 18.18 N. and 111.37 E., which is just off the south-east coast of Hainan.

The wireless message stated that the velocity of the wind was No. 9 Beaufort Scale, which is a strong gale, and its direction north. Visibility was five miles.

EUROPEANS ABOARD.

In addition to Captain Thirlwell, the master of the tug, there are on board Captain J. M. Clare, Chief Officer, who joined the "Taikoo" for the trip to Pratas; Mr. T. H. G. Brayfield, of Messrs. Carmichael and Clarke; Mr. A. McArthur, engineer and salvage expert; Mr. Murray Scott, Chief Engineer; and Mr. H. G. Babbidge, diver.

The crew and salvage party number over a hundred.

UNEASINESS IN EUROPE

NEED OF STRONG FRENCH GOVT.

New York, Oct. 17. Political observers profess to see some cause for anxiety in reported recent French diplomatic failures.

It is thought that unless France sets herself in order and maintains a strong Government in power, a series of diplomatic reverses may be expected.

In this event, there may be new permanent European alignments, with major changes in financial and trade relationships.—Special.

TARIFF BARGAIN HUNTING

Washington, Oct. 17.

The United States to-day bitterly condemns an alleged system of tariff bargaining abroad and at the same time warns commercial enemies.

Under the signature of Mr. Cordell Hull, the Secretary of State, Mr. Phillips, Under-Secretary of the Department, has issued a statement warning certain unnamed nations that indulgence in "the indefensible practice" of raising tariff barriers just before entering into international negotiations for lowering them, and thereby seeking a bargaining advantage, would imperil any negotiations with the United States.

It is indicated in other quarters that the State Department was aware of the fact that many nations had more or less banded together in a series of trade pacts to the exclusion and detriment of the United States.

Mr. Hull has given his word that the United States will not indulge in such tariff raising practices and he added to-day that the Government would seek to negotiate only with nations which shared the United States' opposition to this form of bargaining.—Reuter.

KINGSFORD-SMITH LEAVING TUESDAY

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, October 18, 10.10 a.m.)

San Francisco, Oct. 17. The Australian Press Bureau announces that Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, the noted Australian aviator, plans to hop off from Brisbane for California on Saturday.

The flying conqueror will come to California by way of Suva and Honolulu.

He is using a Lockheed Altair plane and is accompanied by Captain P. G. Taylor as co-pilot.

The aviator hopes to arrive in San Francisco on Tuesday, thus taking roughly three days.—United Press.

ROYAL WEDDING ON THE AIR

KING'S CONSENT FOR BROADCAST

London, Oct. 17.

The British Broadcasting Corporation announces that Royal assent has now been given for the broadcasting of the ceremony of the wedding of His Royal Highness the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina, in its entirety. The time of the ceremony, on November 29, will be announced later.

An eye-witness account of the scenes outside Westminster Abbey will be given by Mr. Howard Marshall before and after the ceremony.

The entire proceedings will be relayed from the British Broadcasting Corporation stations at Daventry.—British Wireless.

TROOPS TO LINE TWO-MILE ROUTE

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, October 18, 4.55 a.m.)

Belgrade, Oct. 17.

Extraordinary police precautions are to be taken during the funeral to-morrow of King Alexander of Yugo-Slavia in view of the number of distinguished royal mourners and statesmen who will walk in the procession to the cathedral, a distance of nearly two miles.

The entire route will be lined with troops standing shoulder to shoulder, so that it will be impossible for anyone to break through.

On one side of the funeral's route only school children will be allowed to stand, so that troops will be able to watch carefully the opposite side of the street where the general public will be massed.

All windows along the route by which the cortege will pass must be kept tightly closed and no flowers must be thrown.

Police will not allow anyone to carry anything, not even an umbrella or a purse. All side streets will be guarded and kept completely empty, and everyone must be in his or her place by 7 o'clock in the morning and cannot leave until the coffin has been entrained for the journey to Topola, where burial will take place.

Thousands of police spies will mingle with the crowds so that no man will know whether his neighbour is not a well-armed plain-clothes guard with instructions to shoot instantly anyone threatening the procession.—Reuter Special.

AIR RACER'S ACCIDENT

GREAT CONTEST BROADCAST

London, Oct. 17.

The only French entry in the England-Melbourne Air Race, a Blériot machine, had to be scratched to-day, as it was badly damaged when landing at Le Bourget this morning, on its way to Mildenhall, Suffolk.

To-day's conditions of rain and mist prevented the pilots of twenty aeroplanes assembled at Mildenhall making practice flights.

In the interests of safety the race rules provide that machines must conform substantially with the International Convention on aerial navigation, and technical experts examining machines have decided that several were carrying excessive weight. In these cases, the fuel carried will have to be reduced, with a consequent reduction of range.

Brief speeches by two pilots in the Melbourne Air Race and an eye-witness account of the start from Mildenhall Aerodrome will be broadcast by the B.B.C. on October 20, at 9 a.m., 11.15 a.m., 3 p.m., 8 p.m., and midnight.—British Wireless.

NAVAL POWERS' VIEWS CLASH

JAPAN DREAMING OF PACIFIC SUPREMACY

BRITAIN FEARS NO ENEMY (SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, Oct. 18, 8.45 a.m.)

London, Oct. 17.

On the eve of the naval powers' conference here, the Cabinet to-day decided that there would be a full day's debate in the House of Commons in the problems of and possibilities for disarmament before the present session closes. The debate is expected to be held on or about November 16.

As to the question of next week's naval talks between Great Britain, United States and Japan, it has not yet been settled whether they will be tri-partite or merely bi-lateral.

The Japanese, it is understood, have come to London with a virtually cut and dried naval armament plan. Admiral Yamamoto, the Tokyo Government's delegate, interviewed made a brief explanation of the policies of Japan in this matter.

CABINET ARMAMENT DEBATE

Roughly, he said, Japan's plan substitutes for the present system of limitations and ratios, a global tonnage. Japan is demanding parity in respect to national security, which does not necessarily mean a ton-for-ton equality between her and Great Britain. The point is not quite clear.

PACIFIC SUPREMACY

Admiral Yamamoto's explanation is generally considered to indicate that Japan is seeking supremacy in the Pacific, against any fleet or combination of fleets which the nations of the world can strategically afford to send to the Pacific.

It is considered a natural consequence of the Japanese formula that she should now be urging the building of a submarine fleet for her own defence, and smaller cruisers, while she pursued the hope that abolition of aircraft carriers will be accomplished.

RESENTS SINGAPORE.

Japan, it is believed, does not welcome the strengthening of the Singapore naval base by Great Britain but is not unduly nervous.

Japan realises, says Admiral Yamamoto, that no country alone could possibly constitute a menace to the British Empire.

AMERICA'S ROLE.

The role of the American delegates will be a quiet one. The spokesman, Mr. Norman Davis, explains that the United States does not desire any change for the present in the relative naval strengths.

"But," he added, "since Japan is demanding a larger navy the United States representatives have come to London to learn why."—Reuter Special.

FILMLAND NEWS

Teaching Young How to Become a Star

SCHOOL FOR ACTORS

Film producers in America are vowing with increasing alarm the disappearing of legitimate stock companies and road shows, and the mounting numbers of theatres which are closing their doors. They are wondering where the future film stars are coming from, and most of them have come to the conclusion that the films will have to develop their own talent.

Paramount has opened a cinema school of its own, where the younger contract actors and actresses, as well as the more promising young "bit" players, are taught about film acting at first hand.

In her school are Ida Lupino, Toby Wing, Clara Lou Sheridan, Colin Tapley, Randolph Scott, Julian Madian, Howard Wilson, Alfred Delacambre, and Eldred Tildbury.

Film companies have discovered that even the best of stage stars must be taught a great deal about films before they actually "get over" on the screen, and as the result most of Paramount's recruits from Broadway spend some time at the school.

"FAMILY TRADE" MOST IMPORTANT.

The present trend of film production is to make pictures for the entertainment of the masses, and not for the enjoyment of the intelligentsia. The film industry was built on the family trade, and its future progress will depend upon a return to this basis.

In these words Winfield Sheehan, vice-president and general manager of Fox, in an interview, summed up the situation in Hollywood.

He declared regarding the agitation against questionable films: "There will be little effect on any product so far as Britain is concerned."

"It is significant that each of the 30 or 40 subjects complained of in America has either been killed or radically altered by the British Board of Film Censors here. That, I think, is a tribute to the manner in which the British censorship functions."

HONOUR FOR GEORGE ARLISS.

George Arliss has been nominated a fellow of the Royal Society of Arts.

"His election," states the Society in making the announcement, "will illustrate how actively this ancient and historic body keeps abreast of the times. His 'Disraeli,' his 'Rothschild,' and his other films have been distinguished in the most modern of arts, on which at various meetings the Society has had authoritative papers."

"STUDENT PRINCE" TALKIE.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has secured the talking picture rights to the world-famous operetta "The Student Prince."

This was made as a silent picture by the same company seven years ago with Norma Shearer and Ramon Novarro in the leading roles.

CAMERON HIGHLANDERS IN FILM.

Readers of Byron will recall that "there was a sound of revelry by night" at the eve of Waterloo ball in Brussels given by the Duchess of Richmond in honour of the Duke of Wellington.

CLIVE BROOK'S BRITISH FILM.

Good progress is being made with Clive Brook's British film, "The Dictator."

Some exterior scenes have been shot in the royal gardens of Copenhagen, and shooting started this week at the A.T.P. studios, Ealing.

Struensee, the 1770 Danish dictator, is being played by Clive Brook, and Madeleine Carroll is in the part of the English-born Queen Caroline Mathilde. The story is a combination of political strife and romance. Struensee finds himself forced to choose between his lust for power and his love for the Queen.

"THE ROCKS OF VALPRE".

Henry Edwards (director), Winifred Shotter, John Garrick, and Leslie Perrins have been in Cornwall making exterior seashore scenes for "The Rocks of Valpre," Ethel M. Dell's story.

On the completion of this film they will start work on "Dye Ken John Peel."

MAX BAER'S NEW FILM.

Max Baer, the heavy-weight boxing champion of the world, is to make a film for Paramount. This picture, "Kids on the Cuff," will be based on events in the life of Baer, but there will be no fight scenes. With him will appear seven-year-old David Holt, the latest child star.

RUSSIANS' SAD PLIGHT

Facing Starvation
In Turkey

NO EMPLOYMENT

Istanbul, Sept. 22. More than two thousand White Russians are facing actual starvation. Following the unexpected reversal of the government's decision that Russian emigrants should be exempted from the law reserving most trades and crafts to Turkish citizens and ordering that all foreign workers should quit their jobs on certain dates these White Russians will find themselves without employment.

Unlike other nationals whose governments are providing repatriation for their destitute countrymen, the White Russians are unable to find a new refuge as practically all countries are refusing them admission owing to their own unemployment problem.

Persia and Brazil were seen as possible refuges, but both these countries require immigrants to possess certain funds permitting settlement, which the majority of White Russians do not possess.

M. Gabriel Contaux, the honorary representative of the Nansen Committee in contacting the Foreign Office here and hopes that a compromise may be reached possibly by means of facilitating the acquisition of Turkish nationality, which heretofore has been extremely difficult unless the Russian candidate has been a Mahomedan.

A similar solution is being negotiated with Greece, whose nationals have also been very hard hit.

The funds of the American Committee for the Relief of White Russians, which up till recently have been able to spend U.S. $300 to U.S. $400 monthly on assisting the disabled and sick are how practically exhausted.

MUCH SURPRISE.

The attitude of the government has caused a great deal of surprise since heretofore they have shown the greatest hospitality towards the White Russians. Ghad for instance has been a frequent guest at White Russian restaurants at Ankara and Istanbul. Political circles are puzzled about this move since rumours that the measure is due to pressure from Moscow appear to be unfounded.

It is estimated that the law will affect seven to eight thousand workers, representing with their families around twenty-five thousand persons. Of these it is estimated that about fifty per cent. are Greeks, twenty per cent. Italians, fifteen per cent. Bulgarians and the remainder belong to various countries. So far 600 Greeks have been repatriated and 250 have applied for Turkish citizenship.

The Russians affected are mostly chauffeurs, musicians, waiters and workmen, including numerous former officers who participated in Wrangel's campaign and came to Istanbul in 1919.—United Press.

PREFERS HIS KILT

Scots Mayor-Elect In Australia

Councillor Finlayson, a Scotsman who is due to become Mayor of Heidelberg (Victoria, Australia) before long, strongly opposed the purchase of Mayoral robes by the Council. He declared that he valued his kilt much more than he did a Mayoral robe.

"I might decide to wear a kilt at Council meetings, church parades, and public functions," he said, "and I might strongly object to the kilt being subjected to the awful indignity of being covered by the folds of a Mayoral robe."

The Council, however, decided to buy robes, complete with lace cuffs, price £30.

NEW WARS IN AUSTRIA?

NAZIS EXPECTED TO STRIKE FOR POWER

Vienna, Sept. 25. Twice this year Austria has shed blood in civil war. In both rebellions more than 2,000 persons were killed and wounded in suppressing first the Socialists in February and then the Nazis in July. Will a third and more ghastly civil war come before the end of the year?

This is a question which is asked nervously in every coffee house in Vienna. The peace of Europe hangs upon its answer. This answer nobody knows. The Government, with the aid of foreign powers, thinks it has the situation in hand. But its confidence is not shared everywhere. There are many informed persons who predict another Nazi uprising before the end of the year.

Prince Ernest Rüdiger von Starhemberg, Vice-Chancellor and leader of the Heimwehr, has said openly on several occasions that the Government fears the Nazis "will try again" before Christmas. This may have been said to frighten goal to which force had not brought them. The Government has, therefore, adopted a "wait and see" policy in regard to its relations with Germany. A desk full of documents, say Government officials, prove conclusively Germany's responsibility for the July events.

The United Press understands these documents are being held as a club over the head of Germany. If relations between the two Governments, on the basis of Germany's full respect for Austria's independence and sovereignty, do not improve, the Government plans to make public its accusations against Germany.

In the meantime Austria is gathering all the support it can obtain from those countries which are anxious to keep the Nazis out of Austria.

WEDS SAVAGE TO SAVE LIFE

COMPANIONS EATEN BY CANNIBALS

EXPEDITION'S SOLE SURVIVOR

After saving himself from being eaten by cannibals by accepting an offer of instant matrimony to an Indian maiden, Dr. Herman Huth, the only survivor of an expedition of 24 men, has returned to civilisation after nearly ten years in the jungles of the Amazon valley, says a report from Ecuador.

Ten members of the expedition, including the leader, Dr. Otto Schulz, were devoured by the Boro group of the Jibaro cannibals, and the remainder died from malaria and hardships encountered on their journey.

The expedition, organised by Dr. Otto Schulz, consisted of 23 other German anthropologists, naturalists, and botanists, and its object was to explore the unhealthy South American "no man's land" between the Amazon and Putumayo rivers. This territory is still a happy hunting ground for adventurous spirits in search of "El Dorado" and the "lost white race," for gold and oil prospectors, and is also a refuge for outlaws from Colombia, Peru, and Ecuador.

Starting from Guaya, Peru, in 1924, there were only eleven survivors of the expedition by 1927.

When they arrived at Pastaza River, Oriente Province, Ecuador, they were attacked and devoured by Jibaro cannibals. Dr. Schulz was the first victim.

MARRIES SAVAGE.

Dr. Huth, who, fainting, on seeing his friends slaughtered, was more fortunate than his leader. On recovering consciousness he found himself in the arms of a Jibaro girl who made him understand that marriage with her at once was the only way by which he could avoid the fate of his companions.

A short, and, for the bride, painful, nuptial ceremony followed, her eye-teeth being extracted. In order that she might bear the outward and visible sign of a Jibaro matron.

Dr. Huth spent five years earning somewhat precarious existence as a "maker of a magic and spell." His activities aroused the jealousy and hostility of the tribal medicine men, who continually asked for new miracles.

Realising that his life was in danger Dr. Huth took advantage of the absence of the warriors on a foray and fled with his bride. For three months they wandered through the trackless jungle until they reached the Morgan mission station.

MOTORISTS IMPRISONED

DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

In two cases at Clerkenwell Police Court recently motorists were sent to prison by Mr. Bertrand Watson for being under the influence of drink and driving dangerously, and the Magistrate strongly expressed the view that the public was not sufficiently protected if only fines were imposed in these cases.

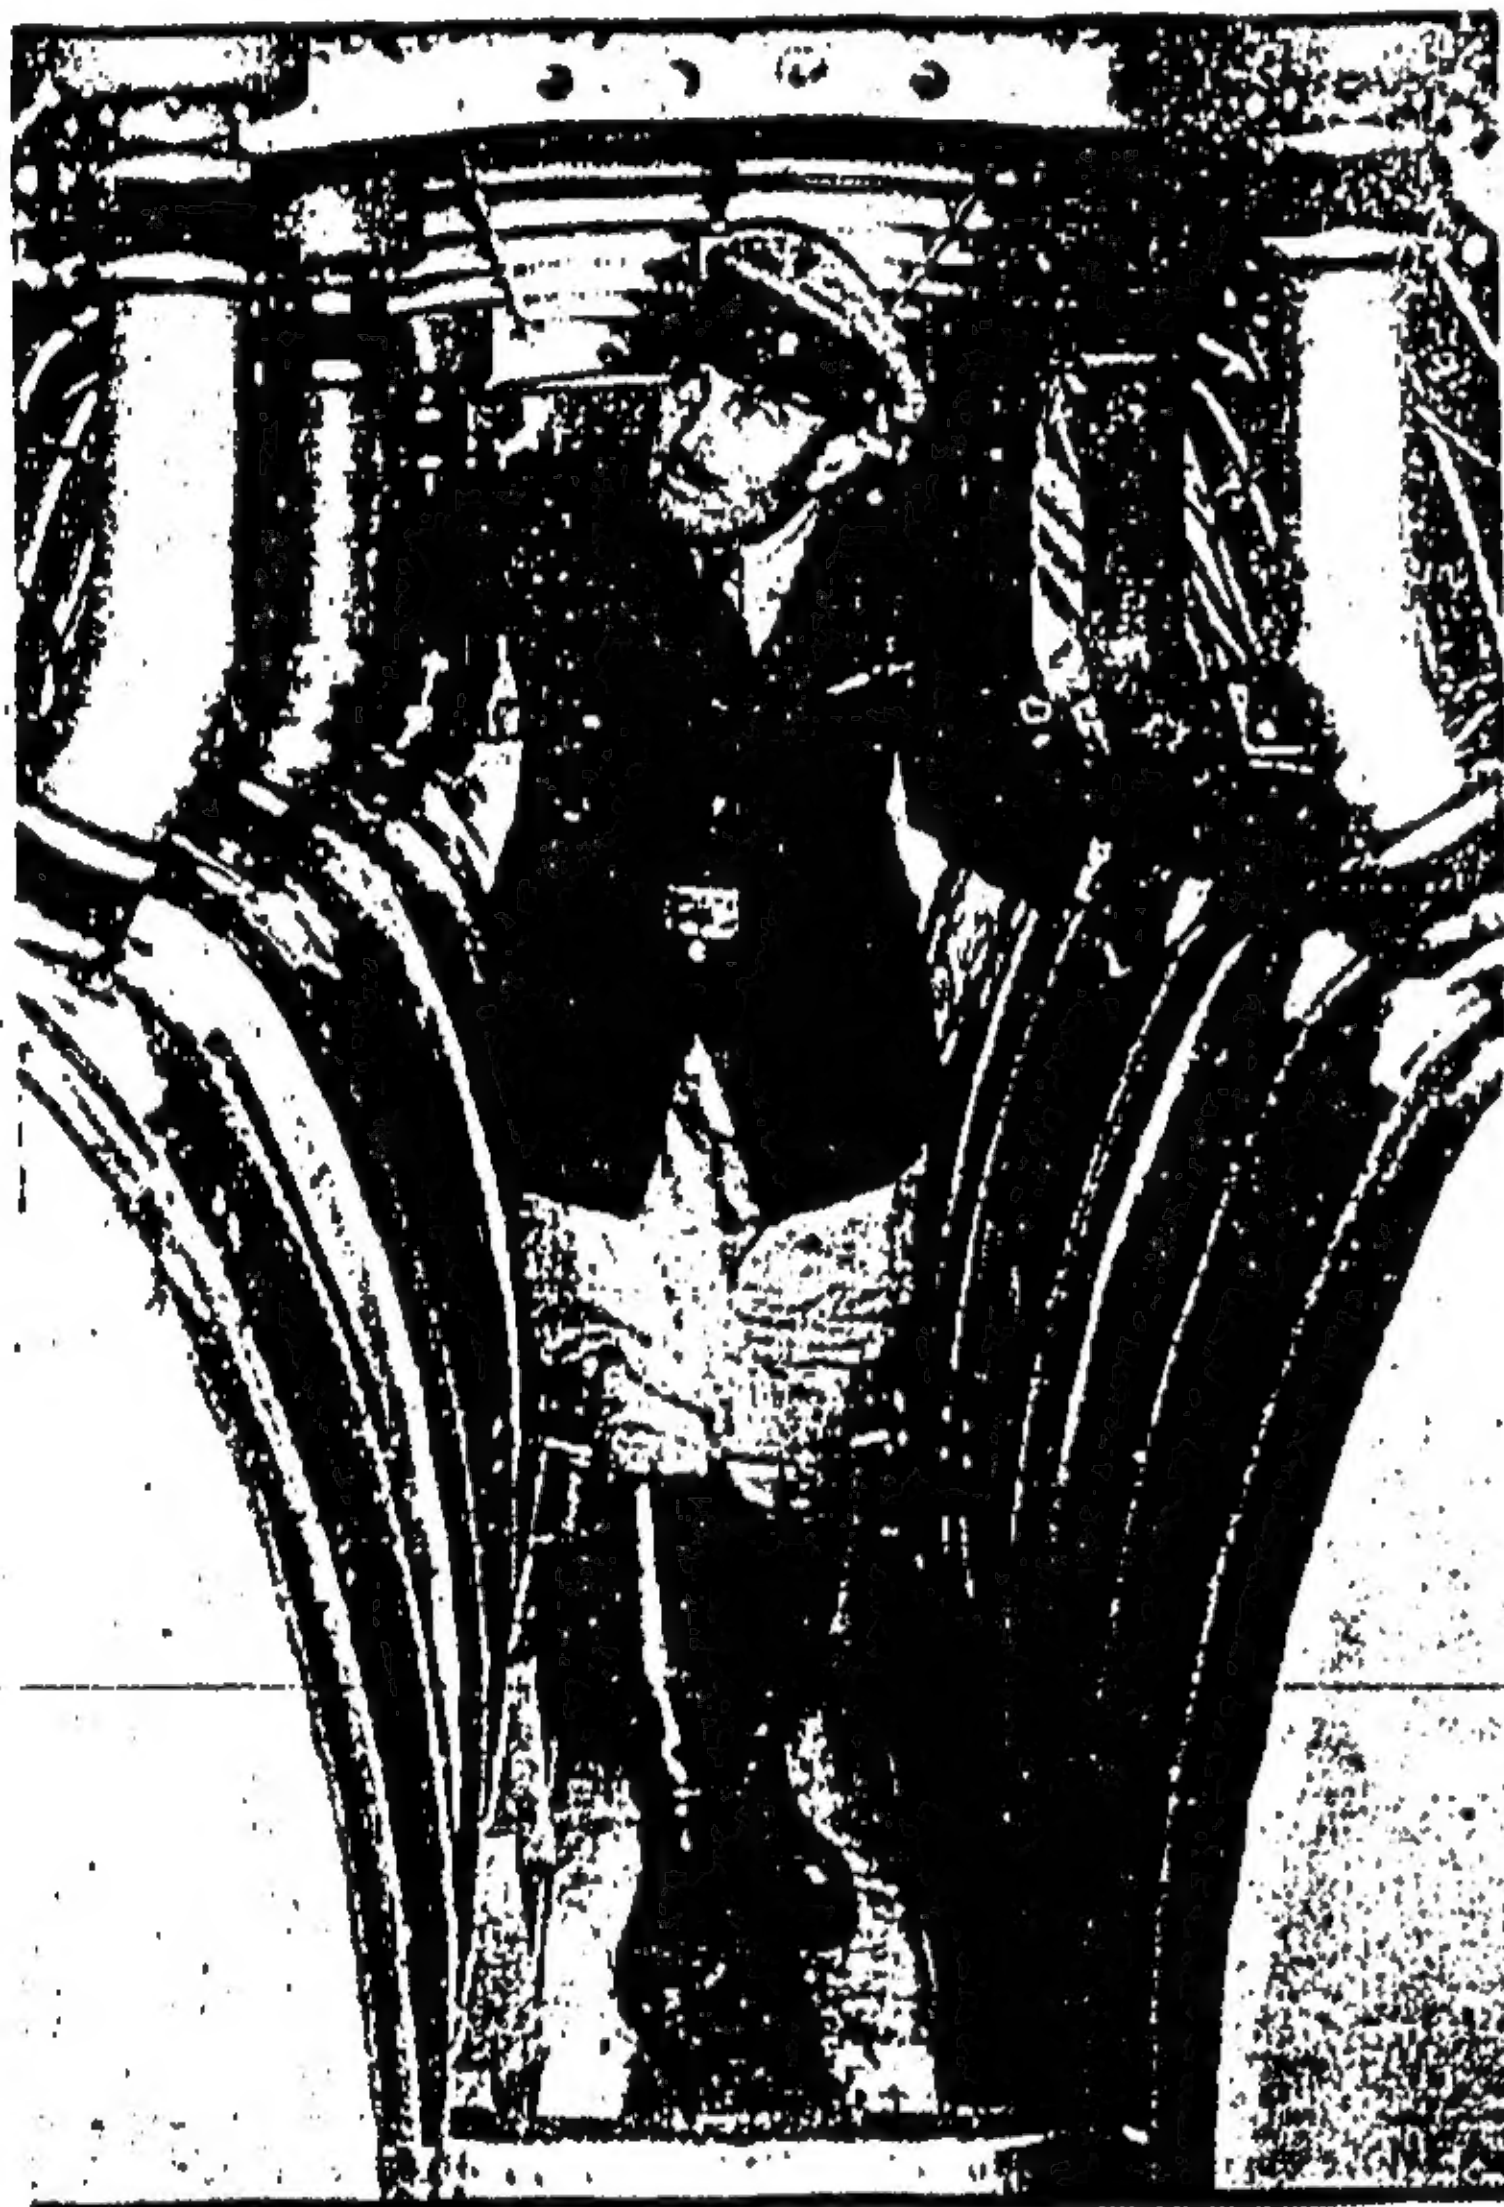

Alexander Henry Munday, 52, a postman, of Gainsford Street, Islington, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment in the second division for being under the influence of drink to such an extent as to be incapable of exercising proper control when in charge of a motor-car in Richmond Road, Islington, and for driving dangerously. He pleaded "Not Guilty" to both charges. The defendant said he swore to avoid a motor-cycle. He denied that he mounted the footway or was under the influence of drink.

In the second case Jack Usher, 30, a motor dealer, of Hillside Mansions, High Road, Barnet, pleaded "Guilty" to similar charges. He was stated to have been driving a saloon car when he ran into a motor-cycle combination which had stopped for the red light at the Angel, Islington. The police constable suggested that the case was not a very serious one; the defendant was not driving fast.

Mr. Watson—Exactly the same thing applies to you as in the last case. I find not the slightest excuse for anyone driving a car under the influence of drink.

Usher was sent to prison for three months in the second division and he was disqualified from holding a motor-driver's licence for three years.

The Nazis were ignominiously defeated in the "Putch" of July 25. They counted on support from within the army and from the people which did not come. They were insufficiently organized and armed to carry out the operation alone.

REALIZE MISTAKES.

They realize their mistakes now. They want to prepare for another attempt. Whether they will, and whether it will be carried out, depends a great deal upon how much support, especially financial, they obtain from Chancellor Adolph Hitler. The German leader appears to be hesitating. Realizing the July affair was a fiasco and a discredit to his party, he is reluctant to sponsor another unless he is certain of success. He is, according to highly informed persons, between two fires. His national programme will not allow him to give up Austria. But intervention in Austria affairs, as he saw in July when Italian troops massed on the frontier, may bring him quickly into a war. In either case his choice is daring and dangerous. For the time being he appears to have chosen the latter course. His appointment of Baron Franz von Papen as Minister to Austria was designed to calm the jangled nerves of Austria.

VIENNA SUSPICIOUS.

In Vienna, however, the appointment of Baron von Papen was viewed with suspicion. Many suspected Herr Hitler was trying to lure the Austrians toward the same

trian problem when he moved his troops up to the frontier in July. France and England also are interested in maintaining Austria's independence. They wish to use her as a sort of dam against German ambitions in central and southeastern Europe.

With this foreign support, and strengthened within through the martyrdom of Dr. Engelbert Dollfuss, who before his death was not generally popular, the new Schuschnigg Government appears to-day to be fairly strong and steady.

But its strength depends on how long the various elements within the cabinet can hang together. Prince von Starhemberg is none too fond of the Christian Socialists, as represented by Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg.

The Heimwehr, led by Prince Starhemberg, feel important after their part in defeating the Socialists in February and the Nazis in July. During the July crisis they demanded their leader be named Chancellor to succeed Dr. Dollfuss.

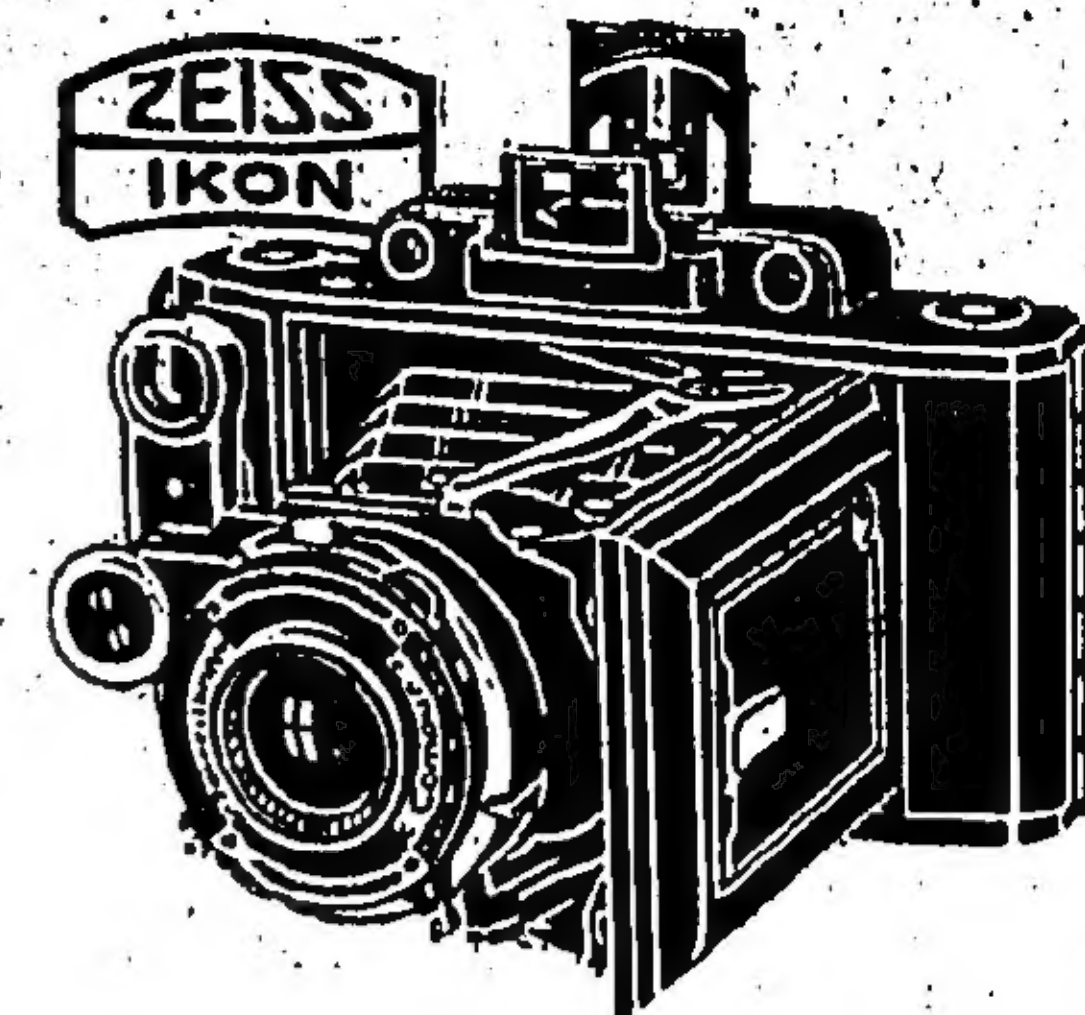

The young Prince, however, declined in favour of Chancellor Schuschnigg. Many have asked why he declined the job. In certain circles it is whispered he refused on advice from Premier Mussolini. It is said he was told to bide his time and take charge of the government at a more opportune time for the realisation of his Fascist plans.

Already there is talk of a cabinet reshuffle. But it may be months before it comes. In the meantime the Government is preparing to fight all foes from without and within.—United Press.

Running amuck most of the night before national guardsmen were rushed to the assistance of police, uncontrollable mobs of rioting textile mill strikers looted stores and homes in Woonsocket, R.I., at will. The soldiers stand on guard in front of a liquor store, that gives vivid evidence of the rioters' vandalism. Death of one striker and the wounding of seven others brought about a semblance of order.

THE BANK AND THE COLONY

The laying of the foundation-stone of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation's new Head Office, carried out under such propitious conditions yesterday, not only marks an important step in the history of the premier banking institution of the Far East, but betokens the faith of those who control its destinies in the future both of the Bank and the Colony of Hongkong. The structure which is now taking definite shape will, without doubt, be the finest and most impressive building in Hongkong, if not, indeed, in the whole of the Far East. It is only right and fitting that this should be so. When finally completed, it will be a source of pride to the Colony as a whole and will reflect in material form both the stability and the permanence of the Bank. His Excellency the Governor touched an appropriate note when he suggested, in his speech yesterday, that the new building should, in these days of dark depression, help to instill a measure of confidence. It is this aspect of yesterday's ceremony which deserves all possible emphasis. Hongkong, in common with most other places, has perhaps more than its fair share of pessimists. They are to be encountered on all hands, and they never tire of predicting a steady and progressive decline of the Colony. Happily, they speak without either knowledge or authority; their views, however, gain much currency because they are retailed by a decidedly vocal section of the community. The surest corrective to their ill-based opinions can be found in the fact that at the present juncture the great Corporation which has done so much for British prestige in the East sees fit to embark on this mammoth building project, which is witness to the spirit of confidence and optimism which animates those who direct its activities. It is inconceivable that an institution which by its very nature has a deep insight into present conditions and possibilities ahead should take this big forward step if it entertained the least fears regarding the future of the Colony. We may therefore look upon this impressive building now in course of construction as a symbol not only of the strength and stability of the Bank itself, but also of the firm foundations on which the business life of the Colony rests. The future prosperity and expansion both of the one and of the other are beyond question.

NOTES OF THE DAY

NAVY ON THE JOB

It is not too early to congratulate the Navy on another piece of sterling rescue work. Early this morning, after many hours of fighting through a typhoon in the China Sea, H.M.S. Adventure reached the floundering salvage tug, Talkoo, and is conveying her to safety towards the Indo-China port of Tourane. At 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning H.M.S. Adventure put to sea, chasing down a stormy coast towards the distressed Talkoo. With an extraordinarily large Chinese crew aboard and a number of British officers, the salvage ship's position was known to be precarious. It was H.M.S. Adventure's business to find her and escort her to safety or take off her crew. Rough work, that, in a typhoon. Those who felt some apprehensiveness for the men aboard the salvage tug will at least be relieved to know to-day that a British cruiser is close at hand, pushing through the smother. It is pleasant for British people to recall such episodes as that in which H.M.S. Suffolk participated off Peasants when she took aboard the entire crew of the City of Cambridge, and the even more daring seaman-ship required in the saving of the lives of those aboard the U.S.S. Fulton when she burned to a shell in Bias Bay. The men of these ships live up to their traditions.

TALKING TO INDIA

Lord Willingdon, Viceroy of India, recently announced: "My Government has decided to proceed as quickly as possible with the erection of a large transmitting station in New Delhi, which will broadcast entertainments in Urdu and English. This, we hope, will prove to be only the first step toward the establishment of a complete system of broadcasting covering the whole of India, under which the provinces will have the benefit of the expression of their own culture in their own languages, with an added element of English programme matter." The hitherto almost undisputed sway of the Oriental story-teller in India is about to be challenged, and the 200,000,000 inhabitants of the great Empire, or a good part of them, will presently be able to listen to loud-speaker music and concerts just as "Mr. and Mrs. Smiddy" and their friends. The radio will reach more people than any form of written literature, for the vast majority of these people are villagers, tillers of the soil, quite unable to read. Yet all of them have imaginations of a liveliness to which there is really nothing comparable in the western world. The long, hot nights are scarcely conducive to sleep, but afford, under dense foliage trees, infinite opportunity for social gatherings and for talk.

FIELD FOR SOWING

Heretofore the Indian agitator has been the man who could best take advantage of this state of affairs. Something has been done by the Government of India since 1911, by means of news agency and other enterprise, to counter some of the grosser forms of subversive activity through the written word. But the problem of approaching the masses by means of the spoken word has never been solved. Until now! And this novelty which must appeal to the peasant people. Of course, the task of the broadcaster is unique, owing to the multitudinous nature of India's tongues and dialects. But a great field of opportunity lies open. Lord Willingdon, in approaching it from the side of entertainment, is taking a road well calculated to succeed. The new radio station at Delhi is only beginning to take shape, but it initiates an experiment of vast possibility not only in India but wherever corresponding social conditions prevail.

TRADE DOLDRUMS

The facts disclosed in Lloyd's annual report will be read with mixed feelings. The total of shipping laid up has fallen from 12,000,000 tons last June and 13,000,000 in 1932 to no more than 8,000,000. That in itself is clearly a good thing. There is less unemployed shipping; the number of ships in existence is less extravagantly out of proportion than it was to the amount of trade there is for them to carry, says the London News Chronicle. But this result has been obtained almost entirely by scrapping ships; certainly not by increasing the volume of freights. We may be nearer equilibrium in the shipping world; but it is an equilibrium in poverty. This apparently permanent shrinkage in the number of ships is a very grave matter; and the indisputable evidence of it which this report furnishes is a comment on Mr. Shakerpear's refusal at Geneva, in the name of the British Government, to entertain the idea of a new inquiry into world economic problems. The time, he said, was "not ripe" for such an inquiry. When will it be ripe?

MEN WITHOUT HANDS CIVILISATION'S CURSE

BY SIR HERBERT BARKER

ONE of the penalties that man is paying for the immense advantages of the machine age is the loss of manual skill. It is a loss which we do not yet fully appreciate. Whereas in earlier ages man wrought with his two hands and few men could not boast some manual ability, to-day the man who possesses that skill has become the exception. We lament the passing of the handicraft, but do we really understand just what their passing involves?

I suggest that it is not merely a matter of so much joy in creative work lost, but that with the loss of manual skill has gone some degree of mental capacity. Nine children out of ten, given the opportunity, possess creative ability. Nine children out of ten are denied the opportunity for its development.

One instance will illustrate the truth of this statement. Professor Cizek, of the Viennese Academy of Art, started infant and juvenile art classes. They were no part of the academic enterprise, but were purely personal to a great teacher. Professor Cizek went to work on the theory that children require merely the opportunity and a little guidance to turn to creative play in the form of art.

He did not teach art, but rather went forward clearing for his little people a path through the obstacles of their home environment.

The result was the most astonishing phenomenon in the world of art of our time. These children of Professor Cizek's classes produced almost unaided very fine work, both in draughtsmanship and colour.

To supply a child with a fine box of paints and all the necessary accessories, however, is not to assure a surprising artistic result.

In the case of the Viennese children art began with the creation of the tools of art—i.e., as a handicraft. Brushes had to be made, wood carving tools devised. Anyone who knows these children is aware that this experiment has resulted in enhancing intelligence and the capacity for self-occupation without elaborate mechanical devices.

This is education in the widest sense of the term, for it is the development of brain and hand working in happy conjunction.

What is the major difficulty with all young children in our schools? It is what teachers refer to as "digging"—the incessant protest of the idle hand, its rebellion against the denial of opportunity.

I refer, of course, to the old manner of teaching, for happily, nowadays teachers are waking to the fact that the alert and happy child is he or she who has manual skill and the opportunity for the exercise of it.

Darwin's mind was dormant until he had the opportunity to use his two hands and, through their agency, to acquire that superb knowledge of natural history that resulted in his great and epoch-making synthesis.

If we accept the proposition that the man who lives most fully is the happiest, then the need for the education of the hands becomes very apparent.

There is in nearly every human being a latent desire to create. There goes with it, very often, the disabling circumstance of lack of ability. When that is the case we get the thwarted individual who so often complains of boredom.

He does not care greatly for books, and he cannot do any creative task with his two hands. Add that is the tragedy of countless thousands who must, perforce, earn their living in our complex and highly specialised age in some form of mechanical labour.

Every child in our modern world should possess at least one handicraft; every adult should practise some form of craft or art.

The case for this is not based merely on the ground that such a transformation of universal habit would increase the happiness of our people. It is based, also, on the fact that it would increase the cultural level, the intellectual standard.

Consider, for one moment, the most successful among your friends. Then imagine him, in the light of your knowledge of his manual abilities, marooned on a fertile island.

Could he survive? Could he devise primitive tools, find water and secure it, turn up land and make it fruitful, and shape from the growing timber a house in which to live, a boat in which to sail?

I think you will find that the answer is that he could not. For two reasons: He would not know how to return to those conditions of the infancy of the human race and in them flourish. And his mind would suffer a blankness and despair, deprived of the glittering and familiar and complex machinery of our age of men without hands.

ANTI-CANCER RESEARCH

German Doctor's Discoveries

The recent announcement that Dr. W. von Brechmer, the German scientist and medical practitioner, had discovered the cause of cancer, was received with profound interest, not only in Britain but throughout the world.

Notwithstanding the enormous amounts of money spent on the fight against cancer, this scourge has shown no sign of diminishing its hold on mankind. Dr. Brechmer is a member of the National Biological Institute at Berlin-Dahlem and director of its anatomical laboratory. He has already spent a number of years on cancer research and did not submit the results achieved by him until he had asked the most prominent experts to examine them. By means of special injections he succeeded in making the germs visible under microscope and even in producing cultures of them which brought about all the symptoms typical of cancer when injected into animals.

The discovery of the fact that cancer is a bacillary disease and not—as he had been generally thought in recent years—a virus disease is bound to lead to a decisive change in treatment.

So far the medical world has not been able to subject the sensational results published by Dr. Brechmer to large-scale tests; and it is very probable that a considerable period will elapse before the new therapy will be universally applied.

The Very Idea!

GODS AND WINE

By George.

DEAR George, I was reading Mr. Montargis' talk on wine, the "Gold and purple nectar, of the Gods" and I must say things seem to have changed since my young days.

Why, we used to come out of the Gods at half time and be glad if we could manage a half pint of bitter at the Bakers Arms. If any of us had asked for wine we would have been cut right away for not sitting in the stalls.

As for the purple it's a sign of blue devils and I'm sure I can eat a chicken with Chateau Ausone or any other ozone for that matter.

I don't know what's come over people these days. They have to have aperitifs to make them thirsty; cocktails to keep them thirsty; drinks to quench their thirst and then pick-me-ups to get them in shape for the next knock-me-downs.

I don't know whether it's a result of the past war or a preparation for the next.

Some people say it's the thirst for knowledge but I can't believe that or my old man would have been Prime Minister with the thirst that he's developed over 60 years of devoted labour to the task.

They say that wine improved with age but the old man always said he could keep it best himself. However he used to work so hard on occasions that he couldn't keep it all.

He prided himself on being correct like and would never drink wine without a bouquet. The house used to be littered with flowers after a heavy night's sitting.

For myself I am content with the homely joys of life and often quote to myself that famous old verse of "Oh Mai Co home," translated by Mr. Fitzgibbon or somebody like him.

A hunk of bread upon my brow,
 A slice of cheese from off a fragrant cow;

I'd be beside myself in such a mess.

Two happiness enough now and how!

Your Auntie Emma.

DR. KUNG SOON TO EXPLAIN POLICY

Shanghai, Oct. 18. It is reliably learned that the Chinese financial leaders have submitted a plan to Dr. H. H. Kung in connection with the control of silver exchange. The plan provides that the Chinese banks contribute towards establishing a "Silver Exchange Equalization Fund" to be placed in charge of a special committee.

Dr. Kung is reported to have promised to consider this scheme.—Central News.

MINISTRY SATISFIED.

Shanghai, Oct. 17. Dr. H. H. Kung, Finance Minister, who is busy attending to his routine business at the Shanghai Office of the Central Bank of China, made a statement to the press this afternoon regarding monetary problems of China.

He said that as a result of the sudden cessation of the outflow of silver since the imposition of the ten per cent. duty on silver exports, Chinese currency was showing signs of gradual stabilization. Up to the present, he was satisfied with the situation, and therefore deemed it unnecessary to take any other action in dealing with the silver situation.

Dr. Kung declared that the Currency Readjustment Committee was engaged in drawing up plans for the improvement and unification of Chinese currency. As soon as its work was completed, the Central Government would take action.

Dr. Kung will hold a foreign press reception at his Shanghai residence on Friday in order to make a detailed explanation of the Chinese Government's silver policy.—Central News.

VALUABLE ESTATE LEFT IN H.K.

Probate Granted In $543,600 Property

Local estate valued under $543,600 was left by the late Mr. Lo Cheung Shiu, alias Lo Shuk-ki, alias Lo Wing-to, who died at his home at 62, Conduit Road, on June 30 aged 67.

Probate has been granted to Mrs. Edna Ho Leung, widow, daughter of deceased, Mr. M. K. Lo and Mr. M. W. Lo, sons.

The will leaves "all my estates and effects—upon—trust—to be divided when my youngest child is 21 between my wife and such of my children as have attained the age of 21 years, or being sons, have married or shall marry before that age, in the following proportions: 16 shares for my sons to be divided amongst them, six shares for my daughters to be equally divided."

NEW $100 NOTES

CHARTERED BANK'S ISSUE

The Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China is shortly putting into circulation a new issue of $100 notes.

The note is of small handy size, the printed portion being much the same size as the present red $100 note, while there is a large white border. The predominant colour is light green, but the note is varicoloured, being printed by the new "Kaleidochrome" protective tint printing. In the centre of the note there is a vignette, the effigy of Britannia, and on each side of this the numerals 100 appear in multi-coloured panels. The space for the watermark, a Roman head, is on the right hand side and it may be observed that the outlines of the watermark are very clear.

Apart from the white border, the back of the note is of dark green, giving a view of the harbour, with Statue Square and the Supreme Court visible in the foreground.

SEES NO WAR DANGER

GENERAL SMUTS AT ST. ANDREW'S

INSTALLED AS UNIVERSITY RECTOR

London, Oct. 17. General Smuts, who was today installed as Rector of St. Andrew's University, in the course of his address stated that he did not agree with the view that the world was on the verge of another Great War.

The issue round which the greatest battle of this and the coming generation would be fought if the cause of civilization was to be saved, was the issue of freedom. He added:—"In the events of the times I see much ground for anxiety, but none for real pessimism. Human nature is not so one-sided or ill-balanced that we need look on our civilization as doomed. In spite of scoundrelism and of the present lamentable failure of disarmament, in spite of the fog of silly drilling and strutting about in uniform and shirts of various colours, I do not find the real war temper anywhere."

Mr. Stanley Baldwin, as Chancellor of the University, presided at General Smuts' installation.—British Wireless.

BETTY COMPSON

APPEARS TO-MORROW AT ALHAMBRA

Betty Compton, Hollywood's most glamorous movie picture star, will make a personal appearance at the Alhambra Theatre beginning to-morrow at 9.20 p.m. in conjunction with her own act which will last for half an hour.

Miss Compton, star of more than two hundred silent and talking pictures, is the first well-known movie star to ever appear at any theatre in the Far East. Outside of being in Hollywood's most glamorous personality Miss Compton also won the title of "The Queen of Poverty Road." Miss Compton made hundreds of thousands of dollars in Hollywood's "Poverty Road" as it was called because producers operating on only small amounts of money did their work there.

Appearing with Miss Compton are the team of Cowan and Bailey, two of the biggest headliners in vaudeville in the United States.

The above should be a real treat to the people of Hongkong.

HARBOUR MISHAP

TWO COOLIES FEARED DROWNED

Two coolies lost their lives by drowning in the harbour yesterday through a sampan capsizing.

Five passenger boats, each carrying 20 coolie-labourers, had left the military pier at Lyemun to return to Hongkong. In Lyemun Channel, one of the craft got into difficulties and a smaller sampan came to its rescue.

As it got alongside, the coolies attempted to scramble into it in a body, and the result was what might have been expected. Both craft heeled over, and all the occupants were thrown into the water.

A police launch rescued the men, with the exception of two who are believed to have been drowned. A third man was taken to hospital, suffering severely from the experience.

CINEMA NEWS

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

George Arliss, first gentleman of the screen, brought to the Alhambra Theatre to-day, a portrayal of genius which evidences in every way the genius possessed by the star. "The Man Who Played God" achieves the virtually impossible by surpassing the surpassingly fine films this eminent actor has made for the talking screen. In this picture Mr. Arliss shows what the talking picture can be, when he in ten minutes and humanly handled in casting, direction, story and settings. There is no doubt that "The Man Who Played God" is an outstanding picture. In it Arliss is Montgomery Royale, the celebrated maestro of melody. He has the world at his feet, is an international toast, and still remains a human being, untouched by the adulation and admiration of thousands who pursue him for his artistry and storm his dressing room after his concerts. He brings to his role the consummate artistry which has established him as one of the cinema greats, his interpretation of the suddenly deafened musician being the most absorbing portrayal he has ever given.

The cast supporting Mr. Arliss includes Violet Henning, Betty Davis, a new-comer since rewarded with a long term contract, Ivan Simpson, Louise Clouser Hale, Andre Luguet, also rewarded with a long-term contract, Oscar Angel, Donna May, Raymond Milland, John G. Adolfi directed the picture. "The Man Who Played God" will appeal to everyone regardless of race, creed, nationality, or position in life. It is a story of a man with whom Fate played strange pranks, a drama as human as you and I.

"Catherine the Great"

The marriage of Prince Peter, nephew of Empress Elizabeth of Russia and heir to the throne, to Princess Sophie of Anhalt-Zebitz, forms one of the most spectacular scenes in the new film, "Catherine the Great." Great care was taken by the producers, London Film Productions, to make a worthy reproduction of what must have been a marvellous pageant of colour. The complete interior of a Russian Church was constructed and the vivid colours of the paintings of the saints and the ornate gold columns and scroll work of the altar screen made a most impressive sight. Elizabeth's magnificent wedding dress, with its gold veil and train, while conforming to the period, is exceedingly original. It may well have an influence on modern wedding gowns. "Catherine the Great" is directed by Miss Bergman's husband, Dr. Paul Czinner, whose suave and quiet methods of direction and imperceptible good temper made for rapid and smooth production. His great knowledge of camera angles and lighting, and George Perinall's superb photography, combined to produce some of the most artistically lovely scenes yet shot in British studios. "Catherine the Great" will be presented at the King's Theatre on Saturday.

"Britannia of Billingsgate"

"Britannia of Billingsgate", based on a play by Christine Joyce-Slade and Sewell Stokes, relates with such humorous incident the lives of the Bolton family when they soon to influence on the strength of Mrs. Bolton's rise to fame as a film star. This bald recital of the story gives no idea of the wit and humour the sparkling portrayals of the players, and the general air of light and gaiety of the picture. Violet Loraine makes a triumphant first appearance in films, and proves herself a great artist. Her tuneful numbers are presented with an artistry that is infinitely. Gordon Barker, who co-stars in "Britannia of Billingsgate" as Cockney roles. His performance is sheer delight. He has the ability to get right under the skin of his characters, and his "Mr. Bolton" is a portrayal that will be viewed with delight everywhere. On the production side of the film, credit is due to the scenes filmed at Billingsgate Market, at the Lea Bridge Speedway, at the Gaumont Palace, Hammer Smith, and the Gaumont-British Studios at Shepherd's Bush. This is not the first time the public have been taken behind the scenes in a film, but it is safe to say that never before has the vastness of a great studio and its many resources been so adequately filmed. Admirably directed by Sinclair Hill, superbly photographed and recorded, "Britannia of Billingsgate" is a big popular entertainment abounding in laughs which should in no wise be missed now that it is screening at the Queen's Theatre.

"Palooka"

In "Palooka", a Harry M. Goetz-Edward Small presentation released by United Artists and currently showing at the King's Theatre, William Cagney shares feature billing with Marjorie Rambeau, Robert Armstrong, Mary Carlisle, Thelma Todd and other colourful personalities. Away from the cameras, Bill's extremely modest and easy to talk with about any subject excepting himself. His brother, his idol and Hollywood agree there will never be any professional jealousy in the Cagney family. Bill grew up with the rest of the Cagneys in the Yorkville section of New York City, over near the East River, where, having been acquired the scrappy proficiency that stands him in good stead in "Palooka". He worked his way through high school, studied law at the College of the City of New York and later became an advertising solicitor, his principal clients being Jewish clothing manufacturers. Like brother Jim, Bill speaks Yiddish fluently although the Cagneys are Irish right down to the bone.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

IRREGULAR MARKET YESTERDAY

The following reports on the New York stock market have been received through Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz: The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's markets: Stocks were irregular and dull. Traders were holding aloof, pending President Roosevelt's speech to Bankers, plus a clarification of the monetary and silver situations. Silver issues declined, due to the drop in the price of the metal owing to heavy selling, especially from London, on fears by speculators that the United States Government may check its silver buying programme in favour of a co-operative agreement with China whereby United States will exchange Gold for Silver and limit silver purchases to China. Bonds and stocks on the Curb Exchange were irregularly upward, the former led by the United States Government issues. Wheat prices eased, due to beneficial rains in the South-West.

S. C. & F. New York office cables: The stock market ran into profit-taking near the close, but maintaining a firm tone. The Bureau of Agriculture forecasts higher prices for farm products. The following third-quarter earnings are reported: E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, $1.24 per share, against 95 cents last year; Atlantic Refining Co., 80 cents per share, against $2.12 per share last year; Remington and, $1.43 per share, preferred shares, against $1.30 last year. The Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Co.'s earnings for the 9 months ended September 30th totalled $2.70 per share, against 2.60 during the corresponding period of last year. Earnings for the 9 months ended August 31st of the Pennsylvania Railroad totaled 84 cents per share, against 80 cents last year and the Reading Company $1.59 per Common share, against $1.31 during the corresponding period of last year. The Public Service Commission has ordered a temporary reduction in the rates of the Bronx Gas Company, a subsidiary company of the Consolidated Gas Co., of New York. The Edison Electric Institute reports the electric output up 2.3% for the week ended October 13, as compared with the corresponding period of last year. Daily average crude oil production totalled 2,421,000 barrels during the week ended October 13, compared with 2,380,000 barrels the previous week. September earnings of the Public Service of New Jersey amounted to $1,836,000, against $2,059,000 in September last year. Prices of hot-rolled strip iron have been reduced by $2 per ton in the Pittsburgh area. Business done: 600,000.

New York and Chicago reports received through Messrs. Swan Culbertson and Fritz:

Cotton: The Administration's effort to stress business recovery has resulted in some confidence, but a definite announcement of the policy to be pursued is awaited by the Trade. The amount of cotton going to the Government on loan has future bullish possibilities, but, in the meantime, the growing deficit of exports and the excellent cotton weather should not be overlooked as factors. Grains: The market was bullish and primary receipts were small, but further good rains in the South-West are liable to check the advance. Rubber: The market was small, marred and featureless. There was an active outside market in the rubber market in dull and hesitating, probably awaiting the outcome of the meeting of the Rubber Regulation Committee, which takes place towards the end of October.

spy predecessors. The picture is "Stamboul Quest" Sunday's attraction. In the Queen's with Myrna Loy and George Brent presenting to the screen public an entirely new team of screen lovers. Miss Loy, heretofore seen in supporting roles, carries off the major portion of the honours that must be distributed for the class of outstanding picture. This picture contains, as "Frankie and Johnnie," many a mysterious spy, Miss Loy is despatched to Turkey to trap All Boy, a high military official suspected of "selling out" to the enemy. The mission is a most dangerous one, but she makes her way through "Frankie and Johnnie" by the persistent pursuit of Douglas Beall, a dashing young American. He is madly in love with Miss Loy whom he does not suspect as a secret service agent. To serve her country, "Frankie and Johnnie" condones her weakness to death. The subsequent developments make this one of the most gripping and intense love dramas seen upon the screen in many moons. George Brent plays the role of Beall and no better choice could have been made. C. Henry Gordon, always dependable, is seen as All Boy, the Turkish General, and Lionel Atwill deserves honourable mention for his characterization of Sturm, chief of the German counter-espionage system. Sam Wood, veteran ace director, wielded his megaphone.

MULLANE TO PLAY INSIDE RIGHT FOR BORDERERS

Borderers Runners-Up In The Area League

MRS. CANNON PRESENTS PRIZES

At Sookumpoo on Tuesday, H. Q. Wing South Wales Borderers won the challenge match for the Area Tennis League Runners-up Shield by beating "A" Coy. of the Lincolnshire Regiment.

When the match was concluded Captain P. S. Cannon, A. E. C. President of the Area Tennis Committee for the past three years, gave a brief resume of military tennis activities during the past season.

Referring to the organization of the league he stated a general appreciation of the efforts of the Hon. Secretary and the Committee in keeping things running despite the heavy handicap imposed by the weather. He thanked the teams for their promptness in turning up to play their matches. As regards the Kowloon Section they had on that side a staunch assistant to the Secretary in Colour Sergeant Robinson of the Lincolnshire to whom the thanks of all were due.

Congratulating the winners of the League and the tournaments, Captain Cannon remarked that they fully deserved their success.

In connection with the team of Other Ranks playing in the "C" Division of the Hongkong Lawn Tennis League it was pleasing to note that they had a fairly good season. Teams had been turned out on all occasions for matches despite the fact that the best players were not available owing to military tennis but in winning nine matches they had not done too badly.

In conclusion he wished to extend a grateful farewell to the South Wales Borderers, during whose stay the standard of tennis in military circles had improved until it was the usual thing to see their players competing in final events. Referring to R.Q.M.S. Jarman in particular, Captain Cannon mentioned that for three years he had carried out the duties of Hon. Secretary and worked hard to further the standard of tennis.

PRIZE-WINNERS.

Mrs. Cannon then presented the prizes as follows:—

Area League Runners-up Shield (With Miniatures for the Team):—H. Q. Wing, S.W.B. (Lt. Col. A. E. Williams, D.S.O., Major Gottwaltz, R.Q.M.S. Jarman, Sgts. Jarman, L/Cpl. Davies and Gifford; J. Jones).

As a memento of winning the Kowloon Section of the League, the members of the team of "A" Coy. 1st Bn. Lincolnshire Regiment were presented with small cups.

(Cpls. Ridley & Borlman, L. Cpls. Sutton, Tope, and Higgins and Private Harper).

Winners:—S.W.B. (R.Q.M.S. Jarman and L. Cpl. Davies).

* Runners-up:—R.A.P.C. (S. Condr. Gillow and S. Sgt. Taylor).

Inter-unit Singles (Other Ranks). Cup with Miniatures.

Winners:—S.W.B. (R.Q.M.S. Jarman).

COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP RESULTS.

London, Oct. 17. Three rugby matches in the county championship were played to-day, when Durham beat Derbyshire at Darlington by 29 points to nil, Middlesex beat Berkshire at Reading by 16 points to three, and Glamorgan defeated Monmouthshire at Bridgend by six points to three.—Reuter.

LASKY TO FIGHT SCHMELING

Scheduled For Feb.

WINNER MEETS MAX BAER

New York, Oct. 13. Officials of the Madison Square Garden Corporation announced to-day that negotiations have been closed for a 15-round bout between Art Lasky, champion of Germany, and Max Schmeling, champion of Germany, to be staged either in New York or Miami.

Garden officials indicated the winner of the set-to, expected to be a ring natural, will meet Max Baer, Livermore playboy, for the world's heavyweight championship.

Lasky was chosen by Garden officials to meet the German, despite protests from Steve Hamas, former Penn State athlete, because of Hamas' refusal to meet either Lasky or Schmeling in return matches.

Hamas, regarded as a dangerous opponent of any fighter of his weight, defeated both Schmeling and Lasky in his last two starts, first the German and then the Minneapolis "Wildcat" as Lasky is known in the squared circle.

The former Penn State athlete, who has brilliant victories over such fighters as Tommy Loughran and Lee Ramakee, crossed gloves with Schmeling on February 23rd, giving the German, former world's champion, a neat trimming in 12 rounds. Then followed the Lasky encounter, wherein Hamas emerged triumphant after handing the Minneapolis lad a sound drubbing in 10 heats.

It was originally believed that the winner of the Lasky-Hamas brawl would meet Baer for the championship. Hamas defeated Lasky, hence the Hamas' loud protests against a Lasky-Schmeling set-to.

If Schmeling wins over Lasky and eventually gains the right to exchange blows with the Livermore butcher boy, the German will be facing the same man who technically knocked him out in the tenth round of a scheduled 15-round bout in June last year.

It was Baer's amazing victory over Schmeling that enabled him to meet Primo Carnera of Italy for the heavyweight title, which he annexed by subjecting the huge Italian to severe punishment and technically knocking him out in the 11th round of their encounter.

If Lasky defeats Schmeling, the Minneapolis lad will meet for the first time Carnera's conqueror for the world's crown.

Lasky previously fought Carnera, the bout ending in a no-decision contest.

Davis Leads WORLD'S BILLIARDS CHAMPIONSHIP

Melbourne, Oct. 17. With a great recovery after his second day's set-back, Joe Davis (England) struck form to-day to pass the figure made by Walter Lindrum (Australia) in the final of the world's billiards championship.

At the close of to-day's session, Davis reached 5,782, having scored breaks of 728, 656, 550, 385 and 392; while Lindrum was 5,604, with breaks of 530 and 348.

Davis was sparkling in the afternoon session and wiped out his deficit and led by one point. Lindrum was out of luck and missing easy shots.

JONES BEING SENT OUT TO LEFT WING

CLUB, SOUTH CHINA AND KOWLOON REMAIN UNALTERED

(By "Veritas").

There are some things which defy the imagination. And one, I should think, is to see Mullane, the steadiest right back in the Colony, playing in any other position. Yet those who care to visit Sookumpoo on Sunday will have the opportunity of seeing Mullane vacate the defence and appear in the forward line against the Recreio.

Still beset with team-building problems owing to injured players, the Borderers, having experimented with Morrison as inside right, have now decided to give Mullane a run out in this position.

Tratt has again been selected to play in goal, as Smith is still in hospital. But if Smith can report in before Sunday, he will take over the custodianship, supply the Borderers have an excellent deputy in Tratt, and his first appearance in senior football last week was quite a success.

The half back line remains unaltered, but in addition to Mullane's entry into the attack, the forward line has been further changed.

"Hooker" Jones is giving up his inside left position to appear on the wing, and Morris will be his partner. Fortey and Mathias, of course, remain as before.

It is now definite that Duncan, former left winger, will not play football again in Hongkong, but his recovery is making slow progress towards recovery, and is expected to re-appear in the team about the beginning of November.

RECREIO STILL SHORT. The Recreio, who are the Borderers' opponents on Sunday will again take the field without A. V. Gosano, while Beltrao is still unfit. However, Marques, former goal-keeper, returns to assume those duties.

Last week's positional changes proved such a success that they are being persisted with, which means that Bernie Gosano is again at centre-half, and C. Santos at inside left. H. Sousa retains the centre-forward berth, supported on the right by G. Gomes.

South China are hoping to field their full strength "A" team against the Navy on Sunday, while the "B" team, to do service against St. Joseph's on Saturday will also be unaltered unless there are any last minute withdrawals.

The Club visitors to the Lincoln at Sookumpoo, are relying on the same team which drew with the Athletic last week, and Kowloon are also "as before" against the East Lancashire.

The Borderers' second and third division teams will be the same as last week. Simmonds will again lead the attack in the second string vice Morris, who has been promoted to the senior outfit, while Court will go in at left half in place of Felix in the third team.

Here are some of the teams selected for the week-end.

FIRST DIVISION.

Club:—Rodger, Gamble and Strange; Tavlin, Pote-Hunt and A. Duncan; Fowler, Brown, Howe, E. Strange and Baldwin.

Recreio:—E. Marques; R. Silva, Netto and J. Bowen; N. Dolgado, B. Gosano and B. Marques; T. Castilho, J. Gomes, H. Sousa, C. Santos and J. Alves.

Borderers:—Tratt (or Smith); Herbert and Morrison; Davies, Podmore and Underwood; Mathias, Mullane, Fortey, Morris and Jones.

South China "A":—Wong Wing; Li Tin-sang and Lau Mau; Leung Kwok-chui, Wong Moo-shun and Li Kwok-wai; Tso Kwai-shing, Tam Kong-pak, Fung King-cheung, Tay Qua-tong and Ip Pak-wah.

South China "B":—Lee Chuen; Chung Chi-yung and Yu Hing-yung; Yan Wa-hing, Lim Tak-po and Hon Ny-yung; Young Shui-yic, Li Shue-wang, Tsang King-ka, Ching Shek-lam and Lai Shek-yun.

Kowloon:—Cort; Everett and Eastman; Glickstein, Bliss and Whitehead; Knox, Elliott, G. White, V. White and Knox.

MRS. COLLACO AND MRS. FISHER CHAMPIONS

ALL FOUR CONTESTANTS PLAY BELOW FORM

Shanghai, Oct. 10. Mrs. Collaco added another win to her long list of victories when she and Mrs. Fisher won the ladies' grass court doubles championship against Mrs. Krenov and Mrs. Ovadia. It was an easy win, 6-2, 6-4.

Both the victors played good tennis and the match would not have been so one-sided had Mrs. Ovadia played her general game. She was completely off and failed to make many points, thus lending little aid to Mrs. Krenov who was playing her side up and had very little breathing space as both her opponents were playing to her continually on the back line. Mrs. Ovadia at the net was disappointing. She even failed to put the easy shots over.

Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Krenov, who were both playing well back, had a number of good rallies between them. Mrs. Collaco generally finished these off with a swift overhead net shot. Mrs. Fisher's strokes were very effective and it seemed as though she put more force into these strokes than her forthright drives.

The first set was slow and uninteresting. All the long rallies were won, generally being won by Mrs. Collaco who smashes so effectively. Mrs. Fisher took the first service but lost it. Mrs. Krenov also lost her service and Mrs. Collaco took the third game on her service. These were the only two games that Mrs. Krenov and Mrs. Ovadia were able to win during this set. Mrs. Collaco and Mrs. Fisher finished the set in excellent style. Mrs. Ovadia hardly touched a ball during this, her opponents concentrating on her partner. Though bearing the brunt of the game, Mrs. Krenov did not falter once and deserved the applause that she received for her efforts.

SECOND SET TAKEN.

Mrs. Collaco won her service in the second set but Mrs. Krenov also won hers. Mrs. Fisher lost hers to allow her opponents to lead 2-1. Mrs. Collaco and Mrs. Fisher once caught up and took the lead 3-2. Mrs. Krenov won her service again and drew level. Each side won their service until four all when Mrs. Collaco and Mrs. Fisher went ahead and won again 6-4.

Mrs. Ovadia seemed to improve slightly in this last set and had one or two good rallies. Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Krenov deserve most of the honours for this match. They had a back court covered whilst both Mrs. Collaco and Mrs. Ovadia covered the net and it was only occasionally that they had occasion to return a ball, most of them going over their heads and being taken by either Mrs. Krenov or Mrs. Fisher.

On the whole the match was fairly good but did not come up to the expectations of the few spectators. The four ladies are well known in the local tennis world and were capable of putting up a much better showing.

When Stokes Was Given A "Life"

"IT WAS A QUEER FEELING"

"We have laid a sound foundation," said L. F. Stokes to The Shanghai Times as he was stripping off his pads, at the conclusion of his brilliant innings of the Interport cricket match against Hongkong.

On being congratulated for his sterling display of batsmanship, the best seen for many years, Stokes appeared embarrassed. How on earth he managed to hold the ball with both hands behind his neck I do not know. It was superb," he changed the subject. Stokes was referring to the catch with which Melnes retired him.

Melnes, fielding at cover, ran to hold the ball which Stokes had skied past mid-on. Misjudging the drop, this fielder with his back to the ball, and no time to turn, was forced to catch the ball with both hands behind his neck. The catch brought prolonged applause from the crowded pavilion.

HIS "LIFE".

"It was a queer feeling—waiting," Stokes answered, asked how he felt when he gave the first chance as he was on the point of scoring his century.

The chance was fumbled and dropped by H. W. Barnes, and Stokes came to bat in his century and stayed to score his 101 runs. "It was awfully firing out there," he concluded.

Stokes batted for 3 hours, 20 minutes to score a total which put Shanghai in a sound position.

TRAGIC FOOTBALL MATCH

What was probably the most tragic football match ever played in England took place last week at Wrexham, the scene of the great colliery disaster.

Many of the 260 miners who were engulfed by the terrible explosion in the Gresford pit in the early hours of Saturday morning were at work merely because they wished to see the Wrexham Transmere Rovers match on Saturday afternoon, and had obtained the management's permission to work a substitute shift through the night in order to be free on the following day.

When the Transmere team arrived at Wrexham on the Saturday morning they suggested that the game should be cancelled, but they were persuaded to play when it was pointed out to them that if only the heart-broken relatives and friends of the untimely miners, who had maintained their hopeless vigil at the pit-head since early dawn, could be tempted to watch the game for an hour or so it would be a merciful thing. So play proceeded, sadly enough, while among the 12,000 spectators were many weeping women who had still to learn the fate of their men-folk under ground.

Now and again, the crowd managed to raise a half-hearted cheer, and Wrexham played gallantly to draw at 2-2 after the livers had led 2-1 at the interval. But, as one reporter wrote, "It wasn't a match, only a magnificent gesture."

A. H. BAKAR BATS BRILLIANTLY FOR ST. JOSEPH'S

A fine innings of 93 by A. H. Bakar of St. Joseph's College featured the cricket match at Sookunpoo yesterday afternoon between St. Joseph's College and Queen's College. The former won by five wickets.

Batting first, Queen's College made 88, thanks to 33 by M. Afzal and 24 by S. M. Cassim. H. Asome captured seven wickets for 31 runs.

St. Joseph's knocked out the necessary runs for victory with five wickets in hand. Apart from Bakar, only H. Asome (26) impressed among the winning team.

Afzal and Cassim followed up their batting performances by taking the majority of the wickets for their side. Scores:

INTERPORT GOLF

SHANGHAI LEADS IN FOURSOMES

SINGLES TO-DAY

Shanghai, Oct. 17. Shanghai led Hongkong by two matches to one in the two-ball foursomes at the close of the first day of the Interport golf played here to-day.

The weather was fine and the greens were fast.

Detailed results were as follows: J. B. Logan and J. W. Harrison (Shanghai) beat A. E. Lissman and D. S. Edward 6 and 4.

T. S. M. Terrace and W. H. C. Huggett (Shanghai) beat E. J. R. Mitchell and A. T. Lay, 6 and 5.

T. A. Pearce and P. H. Seones (Hongkong) beat C. O. Cumming and A. R. Blinks 2 and 1.

In the last match, Cumming and Blinks, the Shanghai pair, were two up at the end of the morning round. On resumption in the afternoon, Cumming's play fell away and the Hongkong pair were all-square with their Shanghai opponents on the fourteenth hole. Hongkong won the next two and halved the seventeenth and eighteenth holes.

Terrace and Huggett played brilliant golf.

The singles will be played to-morrow.—Reuter.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

By MABEL McELLIOTT

CHAPTER XXXIII

A cloud had fallen over the face of the sun for Boots. The day had been so perfect—her little oasis in a desert of dullness—and Kay had appeared to spoil it for her.

But she remembered Boots, certainly! It would be easier to hate her, thought the younger girl with a fierce pang of resentment, if her manner were not so perfect a blend of cordiality and patronage. It would be easier to hate her if she snubbed one openly. But this was not Kay's "line." Indeed, as Boots observed her, she was hard put to it to decide what the other's "line" was. Denis, she noticed, was cool, almost sulky with Kay. And all at once suspicion, verified by further observation, flashed into Boots' mind. Denis had known that Kay was week-ending at Easthampton. He had planned this whole thing. He had deliberately used her as a pawn in his game. They had quarrelled—something unimportant probably but still a quarrel—and Denis had brought Boots with him to show how little he cared.

Oh, I hate him, I hate him, she cried in her heart, affronted. They were murmuring together now, side by side, in low-slung canvas chairs. Boots, through Leo's slyly running fire of slangy patter, was actually conscious of Kay's silky voice; of Denis, protesting, angry.

"But, my dear, it's only until tomorrow morning," Kay said easily, in a silence. "You can't mind that, surely. Yes, I know the man is a rotter but after all I'm his wife's guest. And the chef is too, too divine. I couldn't resist the invitation."

Denis' face was white, set. He wasn't responding properly to her easy blandishments. Leo's demoted monologue went on and Boots, the bright spray of her hair hiding her troubled face, half-listened.

"But you have your own small amusements," she heard Kay's creamy voice say indolently. "The little blonde from the Village..." Her heart thudded angrily against her ribs. Denis said something, very low, for Kay's ears alone. Oh, to get away, to get clear away from all this, this bright, careless, cruel crowd of people, thought Boots fiercely. She felt the taste of salt on her lips and knew it to be the taste of tears, not of the sea. She had been so foolishly happy only a few short hours ago. She had been wrong to come. They were all laughing at her for a fool!

Leo was marshalling his forces. They must all go on to Tony's, the Dune House, he said. They would have lobster and crepes suzette. Tony's crepes were swell.

"How about it?" He was at Boots' elbow, urging. "Oh, I've got to get back to town," she said, looking about her. "Do you suppose someone could run me to the train?"

She had only a few dollars in her purse. Please God, make it be enough for the ticket, she prayed. Please!

Denis tore himself from Kay's side and the older girl watched the little scene with amused, almost mocking dark eyes. Boots must stay, Denis said, with contrition in his voice. He would drive her back later.

But she was firm. Honestly, honestly, she protested, she must get back. The air of the place now suffocated her. She longed only to be alone, to review the humiliation and the bitterness of the last hour in silence.

So at last it was arranged. She dressed hurriedly in the cubana, hearing the boom of the surf, the light laughter and the clink of glasses outside. Denis, again in his gray flannels, stood on the veranda of the Crane's pseudo-Colonial house as she emerged. He'd drive her to the station himself he said. He wore again the aloof, almost cold look she had come to know. He seemed to be completely withdrawn.

Somehow Boots made her farewells to the group. Kay waved a slim, ringed hand at them. "See you later, darling!" Her eyes lingered on Denis and she turned away.

The slender, golden-haired girl in the striped linen suit climbed into the rather battered roadster beside the young man in gray. Casual passers-by might have observed that they were a very delightful looking couple. They had everything—youth, good looks, a certain dash.

Yet neither was very happy. Denis, lost in his own thoughts, scarcely spoke during the drive. Boots stared vaguely at the baronial "cottages" they passed, scarcely seeing them.

"Sorry you feel you must go!" he came away from the ticket window, the green stub in his hand. He had insisted on buying her ticket back to the city. She felt he was immensely displeased with her, that he thought her childish and capricious but she did not care. He had used her as a stalking horse, she told herself passionately and proudly. She had thought better of him; she had believed, in her sublime idiosyncrasy, that he really liked her a little.

"Thank you for a nice day," she said with stiff lips and the words were wooden. They had no life or conviction in them.

Denis gave her a twisted smile. He bought a magazine for her, put it into her hand. All her life Boots remembered that day whenever she saw that familiar orange-covered magazine; it gave her a pang for years.

He stood on the platform as the train moved past—a tall, dark, handsome young man in well-cut clothes. And with all her heart she hated him!

But you did not cry on a train; you settled yourself in the hot car, not glancing about at your neighbors. You tried to read and when the type danced before your eyes you stared out of the window. The green lush fields of Long Island, rushed past the villages. There were cows in the meadows beside running brooks. There were polo fields and golf clubs, lying white and smug in the rays of the setting sun. You thundered past safely gates behind which dozens of motor cars were drawn up, their power impatiently leashed until the bell should stop ringing and the crossing guard lift the gates again.

People—people—all together, thought the girl bitterly. Mothers and fathers in little sedans; lovers in roadsters with the canvas top folded back; picnicers waving from some natty knoll. Only she in all the world seemed to be quite alone.

A truck farmer's wife appeared at the door of a collapsing shack and threw grain to some chickens as the train rushed past. In the gathering dark Boots saw a lamp lighted within the little house and a table set for supper. Lights in all the little houses, she said to herself, and men coming home to their wives after golf or swimming, and children going to bed in little rooms under the eaves... She in all the world was quite alone.

The city was insufferable after all this. Streets which had been lying basking under the sun all day gave out the pungent odour of hot tar. She tolled up the long flight of stairs leading to the room she called home. Hot tears prickled her eyelids. It was a bitter ending to her happy day.

Whatever else happened, Boots determined, she would not telephone Denis on the morrow. She refused to accept the patronage he threw so casually her way. Why, she might have been a stray dog he'd picked up on the street, for all he cared what really happened to her! You threw a dog a bone occasionally—and give him a kind word. Russ had loved her and he was gone.

She had not thought of Russ, consciously, in weeks. Now, in real earnest, the tears came. Her pillow was wetted with them. After the storm was over she lay shaken, trembling in the narrow bed in the narrow room. Street sounds came to her through the light-pricked darkness and the sound of doors opening and shutting. Mrs. Mooney came in. Her heavily good-natured voice was heard in the hall and she opened Boots' door a crack after a faint knock.

Mrs. Mooney had a mild, maternal interest in the affairs of her roomers. She wouldn't put the chain on the door until the creatures (God love them!) were all safe home and abed.

Even that small crumb of comfort brought solace to the lonely girl in the iron bed. She went to sleep at last, the tears dried on her cheeks.

ALLEGED ASSAULT.

CASE FURTHER ADJOURNED TO OCTOBER 31

The case in which William Gordon Routley, a land bailiff attached to the Public Works Department, is summoned for the alleged assault of a Chinese woman, Mrs. Lam Yuet-fong, was continued before Mr. J. H. B. Lee at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Peter Sin represented the complainant, while Mr. F. H. Loebe, of Messrs. Russ and Company, appeared for the defendant.

Two doctors, Dr. J. Durran and Dr. P. F. S. Court, were recalled, and after lengthy examination and cross-examination, which was of a technical nature, by Mr. Loebe and Mr. Sin, the case was further adjourned to October 31.

In the course of his examination Dr. Durran stated that, if a blow by a stone caused a tear in a stocking, he would expect the tear to be at a right angle. He further said that the injury on the leg was inconsistent with the tear in the stocking.

On being cross-examined by Mr. Sin, he admitted that the tear could have been further torn when being washed.

After examining the complainant's leg, witness stated that there was evidence of skin disease, but he saw no sign of the leg having been scratched.

The complainant was recalled and on being questioned admitted that, owing to some playfulness, she had scratched her leg just below the knee, but did not cause the leg to bleed.

Mr. Sin reserved his cross-examination of the complainant and the case was adjourned.

TYPHOON'S TOLL

MUCH SUFFERING IN PHILIPPINES

Manila, Oct. 17.
With the death toll rising rapidly, staggering reports are being received here from the northern provinces, which were right in the typhoon's path.
In Bulacan, it is officially stated that one person has been killed and 40,000 have been rendered homeless. Over 7,350 houses have been blown down and $1,000,000 damage has been wrought to crops and property in the district.
Nine towns in the province are still isolated.
In Tayabas, at least five persons are missing.
Damage estimated to exceed $100,000 has been suffered in Cavite.—United Press.

Worst in 50 Years.

A cablegram was received yesterday by the local office of the Robert Dollar Line as follows: "Authorities report typhoon worst in fifty years. Streets of city are blocked with debris, and internal landline and external radio communication has been completely suspended."

"Confirmation is to hand that three overseas and four inter-island vessels are ashore. The Dollar liner President Johnson and the Dollar inter-island liner Mayon, both of which were in port, were undamaged. The Manila office was flooded, in common with all other buildings in the city, but sustained no damage. The Dollar Company warehouse, however, collapsed and is a total loss."

The President Johnson sailed for Singapore at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, twenty hours behind schedule. The Mayon sailed at 2 p.m. Wednesday, 24 hours behind schedule."

Glenogle Aground.

The Hongkong office of the Glen Line has received a cablegram stating that the Glenogle dragged her anchors during the height of the Manila typhoon and grounded on the mud flats in Manila harbour.

As far as can be ascertained, the vessel has sustained no damage.

The Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Canada although it left Manila several hours before the typhoon struck there, encountered heavy weather on the trip to Hongkong.

Despite the adverse weather

PRINCES' REVOLT

MONGOLIAN LEADERS IN JEHOL PROVINCE

Peiping, Oct. 17.
A report from Chingteh, capital of Jehol Province, states that a serious revolt is being started by the Mongolian Princes of Wuchu-mo-sin. They are reported to be mobilising over 20,000 armed Mongolians under their command to offer resistance to the Japanese Manchukuo attempt to include their banners in the territory of Hsing-An Province.

The Mongolian Princes fear that their control over these banners, as well as certain salt fields, would be lost if they are placed under the direct control of the Manchukuo Administration of Hsing-An, a Manchukuo-created province.

A large number of Japanese Manchukuo troops is being concentrated at Chingteh and other points in Eastern Jehol in readiness. The situation is regarded as tense.—Central News Agency.

conditions encountered, the vessel was not delayed.

Hongkong Sympathy.

His Excellency The Governor has sent the following telegram to the Governor-General of the Philippine Islands.

"On behalf of the Colony of Hongkong, I offer Your Excellency and the people of the Philippine Islands our most sincere sympathy in the great disaster which has befallen Manila."

Kitano Maru Delayed.

The local office of the N.Y.K. Line yesterday received a wireless message from the Captain of the liner Kitano Maru stating that she was encountering very heavy weather and would arrive in port 24 hours late.

The message stated that the typhoon had struck the vessel just after leaving Manila, and she received a severe buffeting. She was encountering exceptionally heavy on her way to Hongkong. The Kitano Maru has passengers and cargo aboard from Australasia ports. She was originally due here this morning.

Communication Restored.
Enquiries at the Government Radio Office elicited that commercial radio communication with Manila was re-established at 8 a.m. yesterday.

A NEAR RIOT

NOISY CANTON MOB AT POLLING BOOTH

Canton, Oct. 17.
Serious violence was averted at a polling station at Wing Hon Road, in the heart of the city, this afternoon when a crowd of demonstrators threatened to storm the station.

Voters for the election of the Canton City Municipal Council began to poll at the polling station at 10 o'clock this morning and proceeded in an orderly manner until 4 o'clock this afternoon, when over 100 men and women marched to the polling station demanding admission to vote, claiming that they had passed through the necessary procedure for the right to vote, although they had not obtained citizen's certificates.

In the course of their quarrel with the officers in charge of the station, there were quickly reinforced by a large number of demonstrators, agitating in a threatening manner outside. They threatened to storm the station; but finally withdrew, on the intervention of gendarmes.

In consequence of this incident, no returns as to the results of the election have been issued.—Central News Agency.

UNITED STATES TO DOUBLE FIGHTING FORCES

GALLANT BATTLE OF SALVAGE VESSEL

LEAVING HONGKONG AT 9.30 O'CLOCK YESTERDAY MORNING, H.M.S. ADVENTURE REACHED THE SIDE OF THE STORM-POUNDED SALVAGE TUG, "TAKOO," AT 2 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING, HAVING RACED THROUGH A GALE OF NEAR-TYPHOON INTENSITY IN ANSWER TO DISTRESS SIGNALS.

The Adventure is now standing by the still labouring "Takoo" and escorting her towards Tourane Bay, on the Indo-China coast. The salvage ship's engines are giving her trouble and she has only sufficient coal to last her two days. Even though the weather may moderate, she could not turn and push her way back to Hongkong under the circumstances.

The little ship has made a gallant battle through the storm which caught her off Pratas and drove her miles to the south-west. The plight of the salvage crew of 100 which she carried has been miserable.

After several hours of searching, with her searchlights continually sweeping the storm-tossed waters, H.M.S. Adventure picked up the "Takoo" at 2 o'clock this morning.

The tug was still fighting its way through severe weather, but its officers and crew were reported safe.

However, the starboard engine has been damaged and this is affecting the boat's progress through the high-running seas.

HEADS FOR TOURANE

This morning, a wireless message was despatched from the Adventure stating that owing to the fact the tug had only sufficient coal for a further two days' steaming and was unable to turn northwards, it had been decided to abandon efforts to reach Hongkong, and the "Takoo," escorted by the warship, is making for Tourane Bay on the French Indo-China coast.

The position in which the "Takoo" was picked up was 18.18 N. and 111.37 E., which is just off the south-east coast of Hainan.

The wireless message stated that the velocity of the wind was No. 9 Beaufort Scale, which is a strong gale, and its direction north. Visibility was five miles.

EUROPEANS ABOARD

In addition to Captain Thirlwell, the master of the tug, there are on board Captain J. M. Clare, Chief Officer, who joined the "Takoo" for the trip to Pratas; Mr. T. H. G. Brayfield, of Messrs. Carmichael and Clarke; Mr. A. McArthur, engineer and salvage expert; Mr. Murray Scott, Chief Engineer; and Mr. H. G. Babbidge, diver.

The crew and salvage party number over a hundred.

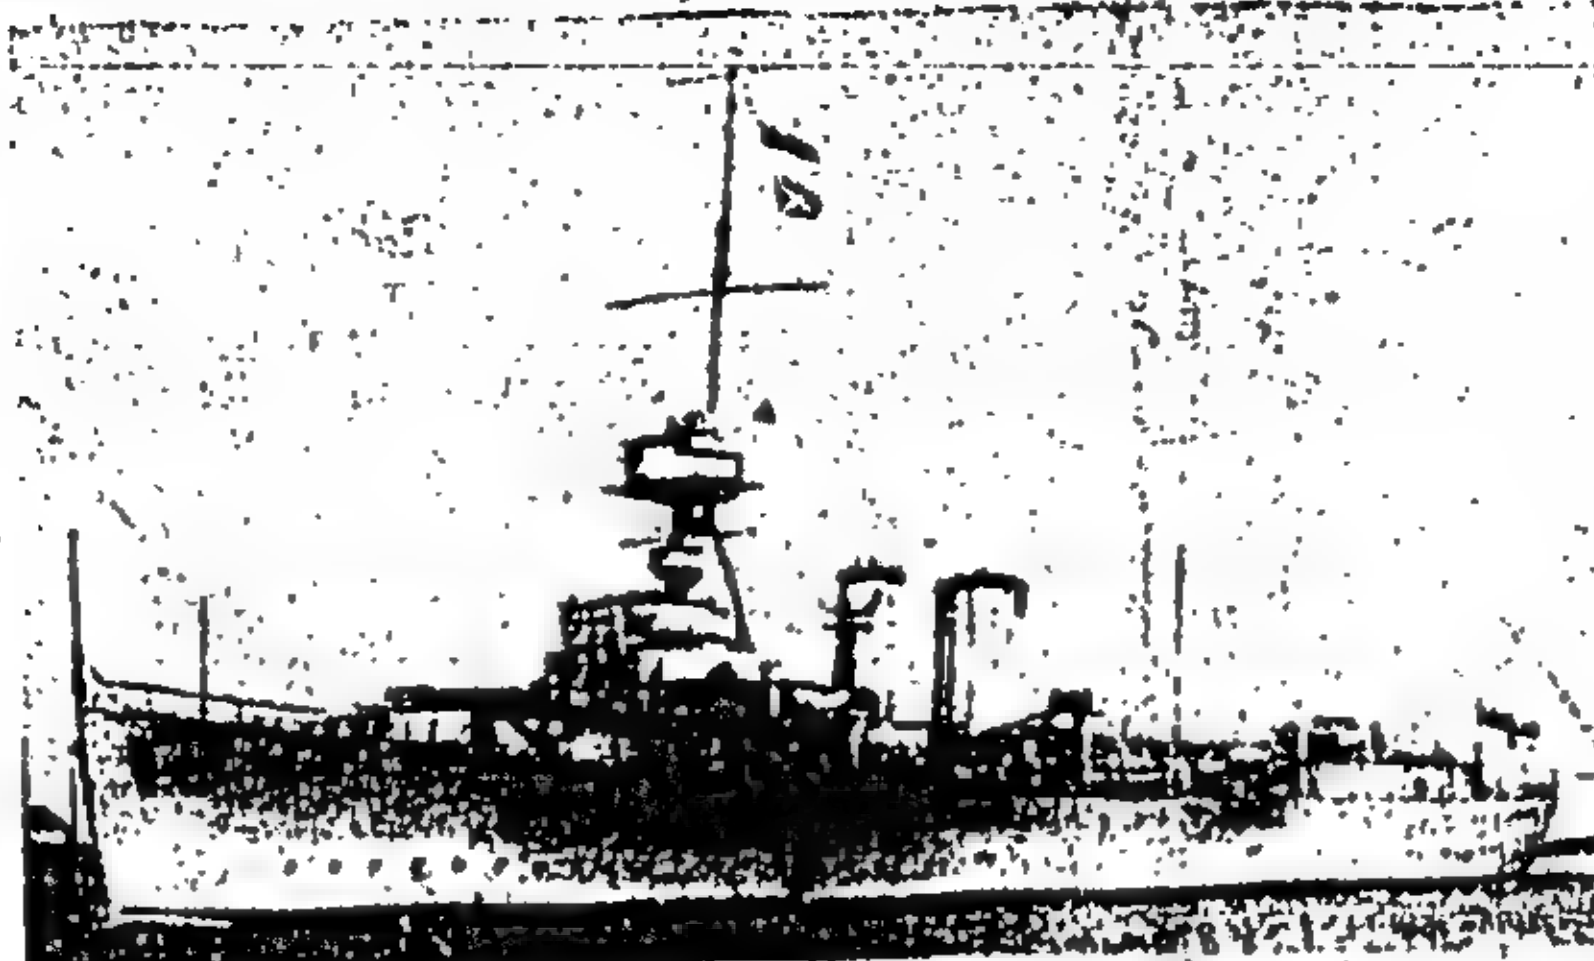

UNEASINESS IN EUROPE

NEED OF STRONG FRENCH GOVT.

New York, Oct. 17. Political observers profess to see some cause for anxiety in reported recent French diplomatic failures.

It is thought that unless France sets herself in order and maintains a strong Government in power, a series of diplomatic reverses may be expected.

KINGSFORD-SMITH LEAVING TUESDAY

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1926. Received, October 18, 19.10 a.m.)

San Francisco, Oct. 17. The Australian Press Bureau announces that Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, the noted Australian aviator, plans to hop off from Brisbane for California on Saturday.

The flying conqueror will come to California by way of Suva and Honolulu.

He is using a Lockheed Altair plane and is accompanied by Captain P. G. Taylor as co-pilot. The aviator hopes to arrive in San Francisco on Tuesday, thus taking roughly three days.—United Press.

NO ACTION ON SILVER

H.K. GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

CLOSE WATCH

An important statement, to the effect that the Hongkong Government at present sees no reason for taking any special action on the silver question, was made by His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, in the Legislative Council this afternoon. His Excellency, addressing members of the Council, said:—"As I believe there may be some feeling of uncertainty in the Colony as to what, if any, steps the Government proposes to take in view of the action of China in regard to silver, I wish to say that the Government is keeping a close watch on the situation, and as at present advised, sees no reason to take any special action."

TROOPS TO LINE TWO-MILE ROUTE

Belgrade, Oct. 17. Extraordinary police precautions are to be taken during the funeral to-morrow of King Alexander of Yugoslavia in view of the number of distinguished royal mourners and statesmen who will walk in the procession from the Cathedral, a distance of nearly two miles.

The entire route will be lined with troops standing shoulder to shoulder, so that it will be impossible for anyone to break through.

On one side of the funeral route only school children will be allowed to stand, so that troops will be able to watch carefully the opposite side of the street where the general public will be massed.

All windows along the route by which the cortege will pass must be kept tightly closed and no flowers must be thrown.

Police will not allow anyone to carry anything, not even an umbrella or a purse. All side streets will be guarded and kept completely empty and everyone must be in his or her place by 7 o'clock in the morning and cannot leave until the coffin has been entrained for the journey to Topola, where burial will take place.

Thousands of police spies will mingle with the crowds so that no man will know whether his neighbour is not a well-armed plain-clothes guard with instructions to shoot instantly anyone threatening the procession.—Reuter Special.

THREATENS FORD'S LIFE

EXTORTIONIST'S QUICK TRIAL

TEN YEAR SENTENCE

Detroit, Oct. 17. Officers of the Federal Department of Justice to-day arrested Edward Lickwala, 20-year-old extortionist, and though he was ready to fight, he surrendered when he found himself close in a police trap. He had threatened the life of Mr. Ford. Shortly after his arrest he confessed that he had threatened to kill Mr. Ford, only son of the motor magnate, Mr. Henry Ford. He confessed that he was the author of threatening letters sent to Mr. Ford demanding $50,000. Lickwala was charged to-day and in one of the briefest trials in recent criminal history in America, was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment.—United Press.

C.E.R. SALE SETTLED?

NEW PROPOSALS FOR PAYMENT

SOVIET RETAINING OTHER PROPERTIES

Tokyo, Oct. 18.

The Asahi Shimbun to-day declares that in an interview on October 15 Mr. Hirota, Foreign Minister, was taken aback when the Soviet minister, M. Yureneff, among other things declared that Russia proposes to retain possession of all her properties, excluding those owned by the C.E.R. railway. The Russian minister apparently took the C.E.R. sale settlement as a foregone conclusion.

Russia would retain building sites and the building housing the Consulate-General staff in Harbin, and all other properties, he said.

M. Yureneff also requested that of the two-thirds of the sale price of the C. E. R. which is to be paid in goods, Russia should be allowed to choose other than Japanese-made merchandise.

The Japanese reaction is not divulged.—Reuter.

U.S. JOURNALISTS IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Oct. 18. A party of nine United States newspapermen, after touring Japan and the three Eastern Provinces, have arrived here from Nanking.

They will spend several days inspecting the Chapel and Wootung war scenes before returning to the United States.—Reuter.

FAIR WEATHER

The anticyclone has extended eastward and now covers the whole of China, Japan, and adjacent seas: Pressure remains highest over the Yangtze Valley. The position of the typhoon is very uncertain; appears to be stationary to the south-east of the Maclesfield Bank (about 400 miles south of Hongkong). Local forecast:—N.E. winds, fresh; fair.

DISARMAMENT ABANDONED

MORE WARSHIPS TO BE CONSTRUCTED

"PLEASANT FEELING OF SECURITY" IS AIM

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1926. Received, Oct. 18, 12.14 p.m.)

Washington, Oct. 18. The virtual doubling of her fighting forces, on the sea and land and in the air, will be the effect of the newly-announced policy of the United States, according to Admiral Clark H. Woodward, veteran naval officer.

Admiral Woodward to-day praised President Roosevelt's decision to terminate the American disarmament policy and to substitute naval construction.

This change in policy, Admiral Woodward pointed out, would result in what would amount to the doubling of army, navy and air forces of the United States.

"Whatever may happen in Europe or Asia, we will soon be in a position to attend to our own affairs with a pleasant feeling of security," said Admiral Woodward.

He added that America had always been a losing player at the naval conference board and that hopes for her future there were equally poor, though the United States was ready to reduce her navy proportionately, with other powers.—United Press.

VIEWS CLASH

London, Oct. 17.

On the eve of the naval powers' conference here, the Cabinet to-day decided that there would be a full day's debate in the House of Commons in the problems of and possibilities for disarmament before the present session closes. The debate is expected to be held on or about November 16.

As to the question of next week's naval talks between Great Britain, United States and Japan, it has not yet been settled whether they will be tripartite or merely bilateral.

The Japanese, it is understood, have come to London with a virtually cut and dried naval armament plan: Admiral Yamamoto, the Tokyo Government's delegate, interviewed made a brief explanation of the policies of Japan in this matter.

Roughly, he said, Japan's plan substitutes for the present system of limitations and ratios, a global tonnage. Japan is demanding parity in respect to national security, which does not necessarily mean a ton-for-ton equality between her and Great Britain. The point is not quite clear.

PACIFIC SUPREMACY

Admiral Yamamoto's explanation is generally considered to indicate that Japan is seeking supremacy in the Pacific, against any fleet or combination of fleets which the nations of the world can strategically afford to send to the Pacific.

It is considered a natural consequence of the Japanese formula that she should now be urging the building of a submarine fleet for her own defence, and smaller cruisers, while she pursues the hope that abolition of aircraft carriers will be accomplished.

RESENTS SINGAPORE

JAPAN REALISES, SAYS AD.

Admiral Yamamoto, that no country alone could possibly constitute a menace to the British Empire.

AMERICA'S ROLE

The role of the American delegates will be a quiet one. The spokesman, Mr. Norman Davis, explains that the United States does not desire any change for the present in the relative naval strengths.

EXCHANGE OF MINISTERS

Shanghai, Oct. 18.

It is learned in local diplomatic circles that advanced negotiations between Japan and China for the exchange of ambassadors are in progress. It is believed that formal announcement of this decision will soon be made at Tokyo and Nanking.—Central News.

FILMLAND NEWS

Teaching Young How to Become a Star

SCHOOL FOR ACTORS

Film producers in America are viewing with increasing alarm the disappearing of legitimate stock companies and road shows, and the mounting numbers of theatres which are closing their doors. They are wondering where the future film stars are coming from, and most of them have come to the conclusion that the films will have to develop their own talent. Paramount has opened a cinema school of its own, where the younger contract actors and actresses, as well as the more promising young "bit" players, are taught about film acting at first hand.

Phyllis Loughton, of Manchester, who is on contract with Paramount, is the teacher. She also coaches players during the filming of the actual pictures.

In her school are Ida Lupino, Toby Wing, Clara Lou Sheridan, Colin Tapley, Randolph Scott, Julian Madison, Howard Wilson, Alfred Delacambre, and Eldred Tildbury.

Film companies have discovered that even the best of stage stars must be taught a great deal about films before they actually "get over" on the screen, and as the result most of Paramount's recruits from Broadway spend some time at the school.

"FAMILY TRADE" MOST IMPORTANT.

The present trend of film production is to make pictures for the entertainment of the masses, and not for the enjoyment of the intelligentsia. The film industry was built on the family trade, and its future progress will depend upon a return to this basis.

In these words Winfield Sheehan, vice-president and general manager of Fox, in an interview, summed up the situation in Hollywood.

"It is significant that each of the 30 or 40 subjects complained of in America has either been killed or radically altered by the British Board of Film Censors here. That, I think, is a tribute to the manner in which the British censorship functions."

HONOUR FOR GEORGE ARLISS.

George Arliss has been nominated a fellow of the Royal Society of Arts.

"His election," states the Society, "in making the announcement, will illustrate how actively this ancient and historic body keeps abreast of the times. His 'Diarrhoe' film, 'Rothschild,' and his other films have been distinguished in the most modern of arts, on which at various meetings the Society has had authoritative papers."

"STUDENT PRINCE" TALKIE.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has secured the talking picture rights to the world-famous operetta "The Student Prince."

This was made as a silent picture by the same company seven years ago with Norma Shearer and Ramon Novarro in the leading roles.

CAMERON HIGHLANDERS IN FILM.

Readers of Byron will recall that "there was a sound of revelry by night" at the eve of Waterloo, when the Duke of Wellington in honour of the Duke of Wellington.

In the Gaumont-British film, "The Iron Duke," starring George Arliss, part of that revelry will be supplied by a detachment of the Queen's Own Cameron High-

CASSEROLE OF MUSHROOMS

AND TOMATOES.

Grease a casserole. Skin ½ lb. mushrooms and remove the stalks. Skin and slice three tomatoes, then cut an onion into rings and fry in one oz. fat till golden brown.

Fill up the dish with alternate layers of the ingredients, seasoning each layer well with salt, pepper, and chopped parsley, and finishing with a layer of mushrooms. Add four table-spoonfuls stock of water and stew gently till the mushrooms are tender. This will probably be about 30 minutes after boiling point is reached, if the oven is fairly hot.

Taught by their own Pipe Major, whose hobby is the cult of old Scottish national dances, 24 dancers and 6 pipers made their first appearance in a film studio. They emulated the performances of their ancestors with gusto, and, with pipes scirling and kilts whirling, slipped lightly over the floor.

CLIVE BROOK'S BRITISH FILM.

Good progress is being made with Clive Brook's British film, "The Dictator."

Some exterior scenes have been shot in the royal gardens of Copenhagen, and shooting started this week at the A.T.P. studios, Ealing.

Struensee, the 1770 Danish dictator, is being played by Clive Brook, and Madeleine Carroll is in the part of the English-born Queen Caroline Mathilde. The story is a combination of political strife and romance. Struensee finds himself forced to choose between his lust for power and his love for the Queen.

"THE ROCKS OF VALPRE."

Henry Edwards (director), Winifred Shotter, John Garrick, and Leslie Perrina have been in Cornwall making exterior seashore scenes for "The Rocks of Valpre," Ethel M. Dell's story.

On the completion of this film they will start work on "Dye Ken John Peel."

MAX BAER'S NEW FILM.

Max Baer, the heavy-weight boxing champion of the world, is to make a film for Paramount.

This picture, "Kicks on the Cuff," will be based on events in the life of Baer, but there will be no fight scenes. With him will appear seven-year-old David Holt, the latest child star.

RUSSIANS' SAD PLIGHT

Facing Starvation In Turkey

Istanbul, Sept. 22.

More than two thousand White Russians are facing actual starvation. Following the unexpected reversal of the government's decision that Russian emigrants should be exempted from the law reserving most trades and crafts to Turkish citizens, and ordering that all foreign workers should quit their jobs on certain dates these White Russians will find themselves without employment.

Unlike other nationals whose governments are providing repatriation for their destitute countrymen, the White Russians are unable to find a new refuge as practically all countries are refusing their admission owing to their own unemployment problem.

Perals and Brazil were seen as possible refuges, but both these countries require immigrants to possess certain funds permitting settlement, which the majority of White Russians do not possess.

M. Gabriel Couteaux, the honorary representative of the Nansen Committee is contacting the Foreign Office here and hopes that a compromise may be reached possibly by means of facilitating the acquisition of Turkish nationality, which heretofore has been extremely difficult unless the Russian candidate has been a Mahomedan.

A similar solution is being negotiated with Greece whose nationals have also been very hard hit.

The funds of the American Committee for the Relief of White Russians, which up till recently have been able to spend U.S. $300 to U.S. $400 monthly on assisting the disabled and sick are now practically exhausted.

MUCH SURPRISE.

The attitude of the government has caused a great deal of surprise since heretofore they have shown the greatest hospitality towards the White Russians. Ghazi for instance has been a frequent guest at White Russian restaurants at Ankara and Istanbul. Political circles are puzzled about this move since rumours that the measure is due to pressure from Moscow appear to be unfounded.

It is estimated that the law will affect seven to eight thousand workers, representing with their families around twenty-five thousand persons. Of these 10 per cent. are Greeks, twenty per cent. Italians, fifteen per cent. Bulgarians and the remainder belong to various countries. So far 500 Greeks have been repatriated and 230 have applied for Turkish citizenship.

The Russians affected are mostly chauffeurs, musicians, waiters and workmen, including numerous former officers who participated in Wrangel's campaign and came to Istanbul in 1919.—United Press.

PREFERS HIS KILT

Scots Mayor-Elect In Australia

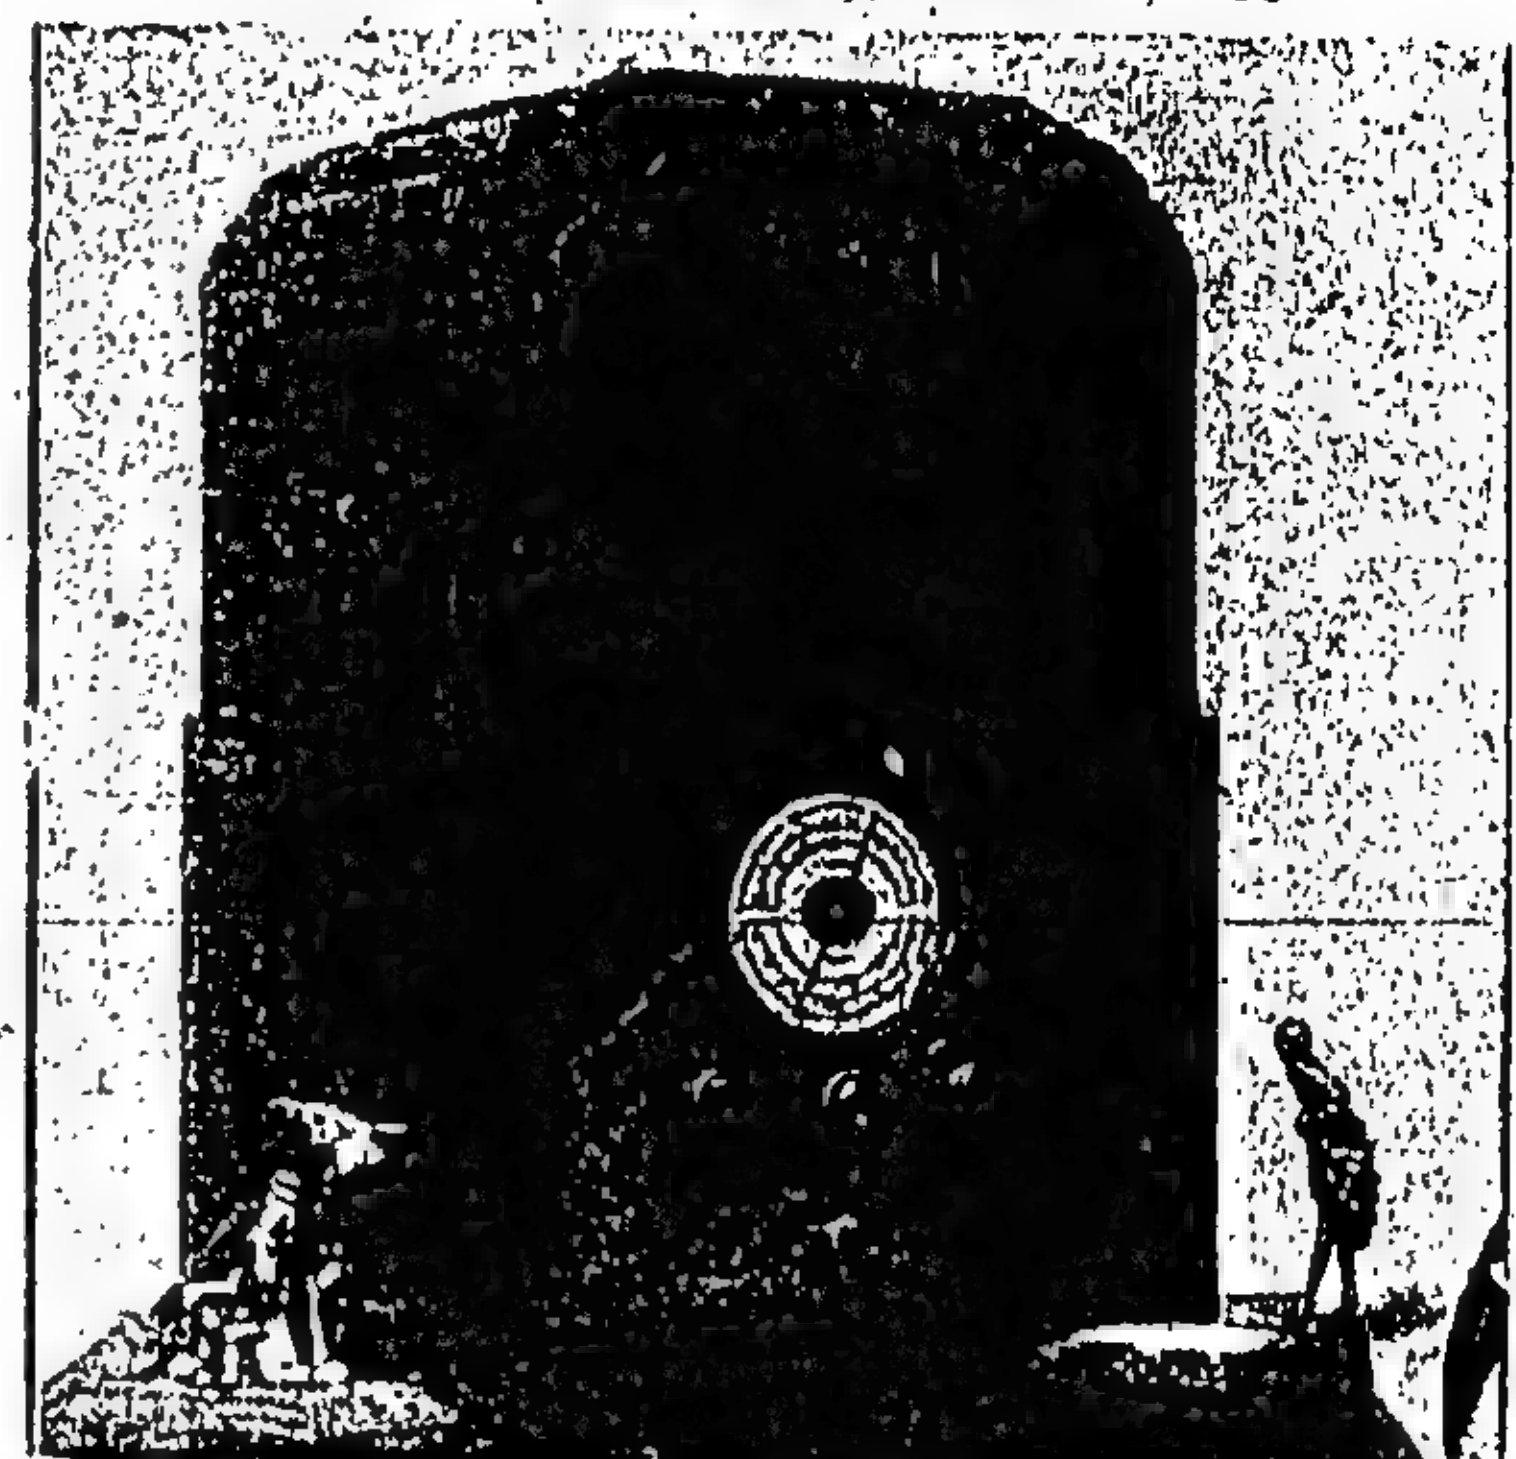

Councillor Finlayson, a Scotsman who is due to become Mayor of Heidelberg (Victoria, Australia) before long, strongly opposed the purchase of Mayoral robes by the Council. He declared that he valued his kilt much more than he did a Mayoral robe.

"I might decide to wear my kilt at Council meetings, church parades, and public functions," he said, "and I might strongly object to the kilt being subjected to the awful indignity of being covered by the folds of a Mayoral robe."

The Council, however, decided to buy robes, complete with lace cuffs, price £30.

NEW WARS IN AUSTRIA?

NAZIS EXPECTED TO STRIKE FOR POWER

Vienna, Sept. 25. Twice this year Austria has shed blood in civil war. In both rebellions more than 2,000 persons were killed and wounded in suppressing first the Socialists in February and then the Nazis in July. Will a third and more ghastly civil war come before the end of the year?

This is a question which is asked nervously in every coffee house in Vienna. The peace of Europe hangs upon its answer. The Government, with the aid of foreign powers, thinks it has the situation in hand. But its confidence is not shared everywhere. There are many informed persons who predict another Nazi uprising before the end of the year.

Prince Ernest Rüdiger von Starhemberg, Vice-Chancellor and leader of the Heimwehr, has said openly on several occasions that the Government fears the Nazis "will try again" before Christmas. This may have been said to frighten people to which force had not brought them. The Government has, therefore, adopted a "wait and see" policy in regard to its relations with Germany. A desk full of documents, say Government officials, prove conclusively Germany's responsibility for the July events.

The United Press understands these documents are being held as a club over the head of Germany. If relations between the two Governments, on the basis of Germany's full respect for Austria's independence and sovereignty, do not improve, the Government plans to make public its accusations against Germany.

In the meantime Austria is gathering all the support it can obtain from those countries which are anxious to keep the Nazis out of Austria.

ITALY'S INTEREST.

Italy is chiefly interested and has done the most. Premier Mussolini showed his anxiety over the Aus-

the Great Powers into more financial and moral assistance. But even so there is still considerable truth in it.

The Nazis were ignominiously defeated in the "Putz" of July 25. They counted on support from within the army and from the people which did not come. They were insufficiently organized and armed to carry out the operation alone.

REALIZE MISTAKES.

They realize their mistakes now. They want to prepare for another attempt. Whether they will, and whether it will be carried out, depends a great deal upon how much support, especially financial, they obtain from Chancellor Adolph Hitler. The German leader appears to be hesitating. Realizing the July affair was a fiasco and a discredit to his party, he is reluctant to sponsor another unless he is certain of success. He is according to highly informed persons, "between two fires." His national programme will not allow him to give up Austria. But intervention in Austria affairs, as he saw in July when Italian troops massed on the frontier, may bring him quickly into a war.

In either case his choice is daring and dangerous. For the time being he appears to have chosen the latter course. His appointment of Baron Franz von Papen as Minister to Austria was designed to calm the jangled nerves of Austria.

VIENNA SUSPICIOUS.

In Vienna, however, the appointment of Baron von Papen was viewed with suspicion. Many suspected Herr Hitler was trying to lure the Austrians toward the same

WEDS SAVAGE TO SAVE LIFE

COMPANIONS EATEN BY CANNIBALS

EXPEDITION'S SOLE SURVIVOR

After saving himself from being eaten by cannibals by accepting an offer of instant matrimony to an Indian maiden, Dr. Herman Huth, the only survivor of an expedition of 24 men, has returned to civilization after nearly ten years in the jungles of the Amazon valley, says a report from Ecuador.

Ten members of the expedition, including the leader, Dr. Otto Schulz, were devoured by the Boro group of the Jibaro cannibals, and the remainder died from malaria and hardships encountered on their journey.

The expedition, organized by Dr. Otto Schulz, consisted of 23 other German anthropologists, naturalists, and botanists, and its object was to explore the unhealthy South American "no man's land" between the Amazon and Putumayo rivers. This territory is still a happy hunting ground for adventurous spirits in search of "El Dorado" and the "lost white race," for gold and oil prospectors, and is also a refuge for outlaws from Colombia, Peru, and Ecuador.

Starting from Cuzco, Peru, in 1924, there were only eleven survivors of the expedition by 1927.

When they arrived at Pastaza River, Oriente Province, Ecuador, they were attacked and devoured by Jibaro cannibals. Dr. Schulz was the first victim.

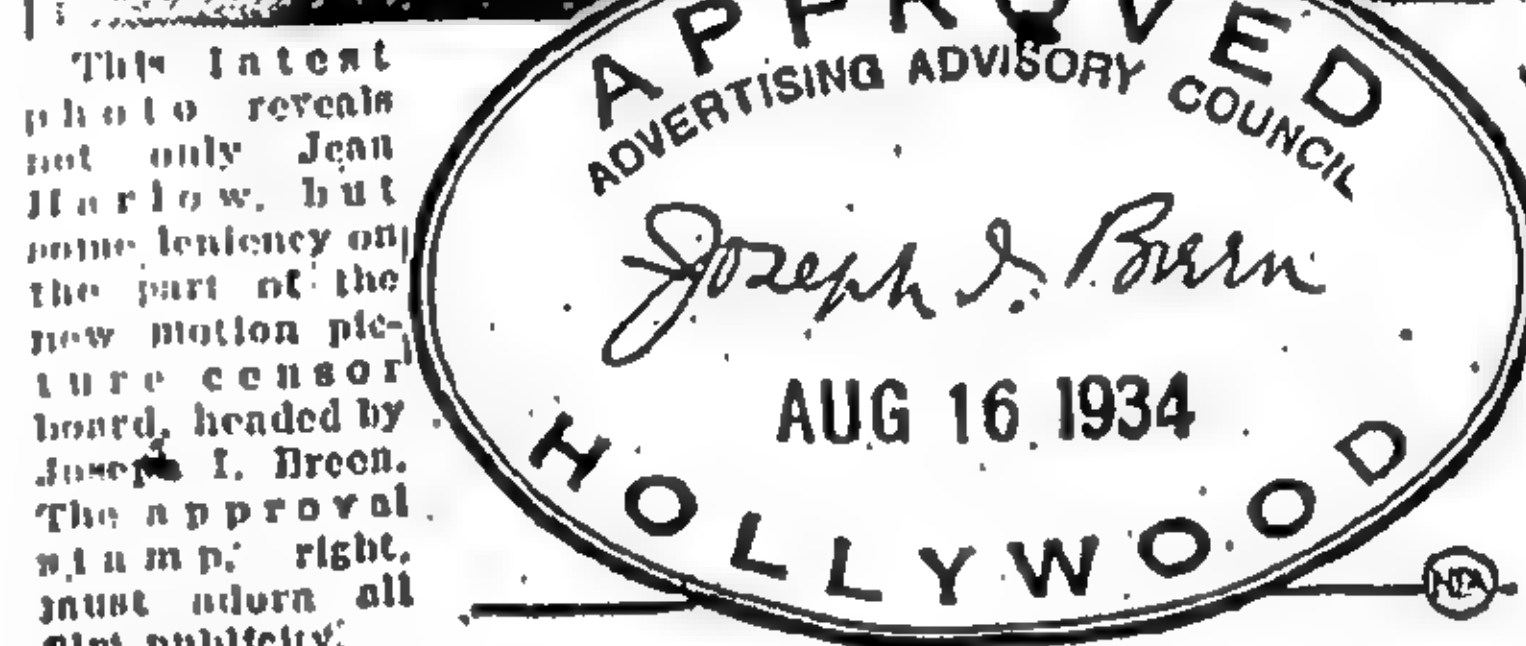

MARRIES SAVAGE.

Dr. Huth, who fainted, on seeing his friends slaughtered, was more fortunate than his leader. On recovering consciousness he found himself in the arms of a Jibaro girl who made him understand that marriage with her at once was the only way by which he could avoid the fate of his companions.

A short, and, for the bride, painful, nuptial ceremony followed, her eye-teeth being extracted, in order that she might bear the outward and visible sign of a Jibaro matron.

Dr. Huth spent five years earning somewhat precarious existence as a "maker of a magic and spell." His activities aroused the jealousy and hostility of the tribal medicine men, who continually asked for new miracles.

Realizing that his life was in danger Dr. Huth took advantage of the absence of the warriors on a foray and fled with his bride. For three months they wandered through the trackless jungle until they reached the Morgan mission station.

MOTORISTS IMPRISONED

DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

In two cases at Clerkenwell Police Court recently—motorists were sent to prison by Mr. Bertrand Watson for being under the influence of drink and driving dangerously, and the Magistrate strongly expressed the view that the public was not sufficiently protected if only fines were imposed in these cases.

Alexander Henry Munday, 52, a postman, of Galford Street, Islington, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment in the second division for being under the influence of drink to such an extent as to be incapable of exercising proper control when in charge of a motor-car, in Richmond Road, Islington, and for driving dangerously. He pleaded "Not Guilty" to both charges. The defendant said he swerved to avoid a motor-cycle. He denied that he mounted the footway or was under the influence of drink.

In the second case Jack Usher, 30, a motor dealer, of Hillside Mansions, High Road, Barnet, pleaded "Guilty" to similar charges. He was stated to have been driving a saloon car when he ran into a motor-cycle combination which had stopped for the red light at the Angel, Islington. The police-constable suggested that the case was not a very serious one; the defendant was not driving fast.

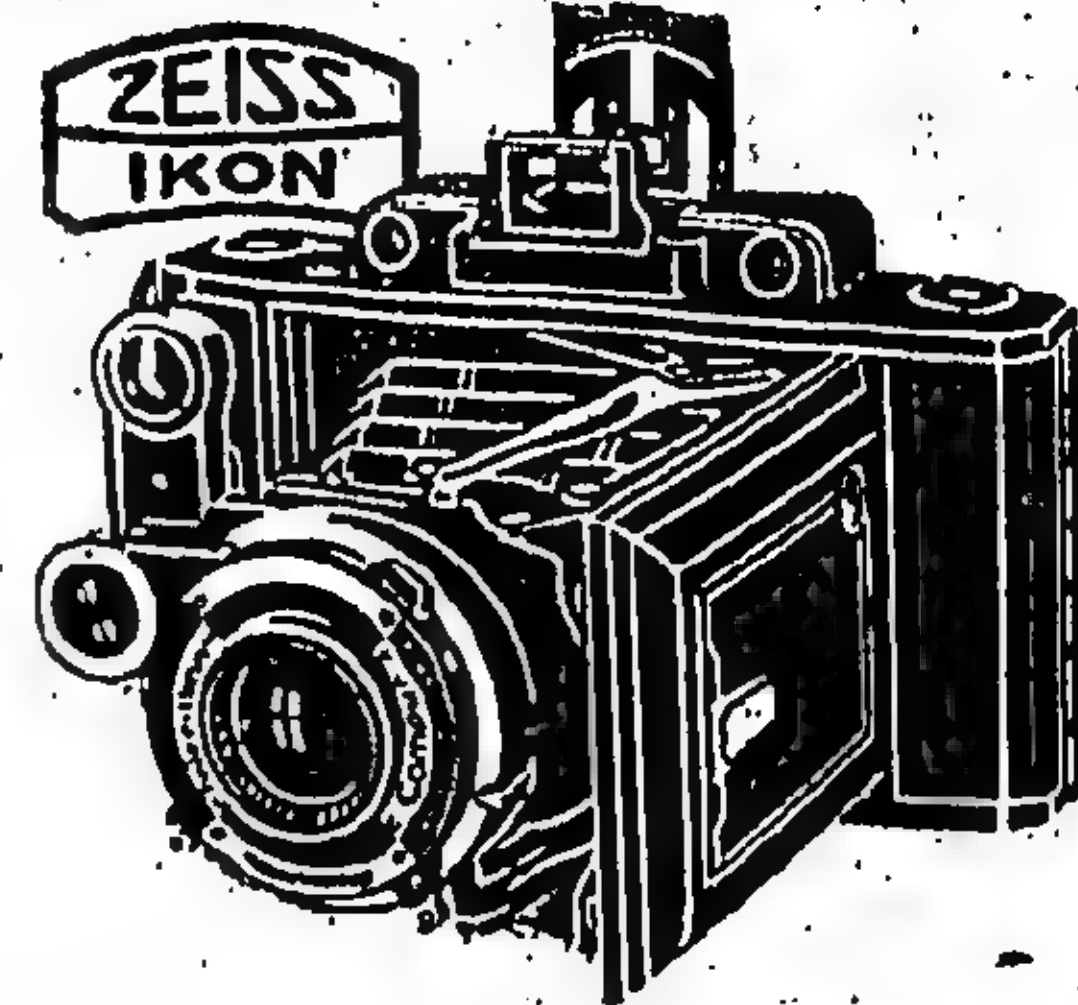

Mr. Watson.—Exactly the same thing applies to you as in the last case. I find not the slightest excuse for anyone driving a car under the influence of drink.

Running amok most of the night before national guardsmen were rushed to the assistance of police, uncontrolled mobs of rioting textile mill strikers looted stores and homes in Woonsocket, R.I. at will. The soldiers stand on guard in front of a liquor store that gives vivid evidence of the rioters' vandalism. Death of one striker and the wounding of seven others brought about a semblance of order.

THE BANK AND THE COLONY

The laying of the foundation-stone of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation's new Head Office, carried out under such propitious conditions yesterday, not only marks an important step in the history of the premier banking institution of the Far East, but betokens the faith of those who control its destinies in the future both of the Bank and the Colony of Hongkong. The structure which is now taking definite shape will, without doubt, be the finest and most impressive building in Hongkong, if not, indeed, in the whole of the Far East. It is only right and fitting that this should be so. When finally completed, it will be a source of pride to the Colony as a whole and will reflect in material form both the stability and the permanence of the Bank. His Excellency the Governor touched an appropriate note when, he suggested, in his speech yesterday, that the new building should, in these days of dark depression, help to instil a measure of confidence. It is this aspect of yesterday's ceremony which deserves all possible emphasis.
 Hongkong, in common with most other places, has perhaps more than its fair share of pessimists.
 They are to be encountered on all hands, and they never tire of predicting a steady and progressive decline of the Colony.
 Happily, they speak without either knowledge or authority; their views, however, gain much currency because they are retailed by a decidedly vocal section of the community. The surest corrective to their ill-based opinions can be found in the fact that at the present juncture the great Corporation which has done so much for British prestige in the East sees fit to embark on this mammoth building project, which is witness to the spirit of confidence and optimism which animates those who direct its activities.
 It is inconceivable that an institution which by its very nature has a deep insight into present conditions and possibilities ahead should take this big forward step if it entertained the least fears regarding the future of the Colony. We may therefore look upon this impressive building now in course of construction as a symbol not only of the strength and stability of the Bank itself, but also of the firm foundations on which the business life of the Colony rests. The future prosperity and expansion both of the one and of the other are beyond question.

NOTES OF THE DAY

NAVY ON THE JOB

It is not too early to congratulate the Navy on another piece of sterling rescue work. Early this morning after many hours of fighting through a typhoon in the China Sea, H.M.S. Adventure reached the floundering salvage tug, Talkoo, and is conveying her to safety towards the Indo-China port of Tourane. At 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning H.M.S. Adventure put to sea, chasing down a stormy coast towards the distressed Talkoo. With an extraordinarily large Chinese crew aboard and a number of British officers, the salvage ship's position was known to be precarious. It was H.M.S. Adventure's business to find her and escort her to safety or take off her crew. Rough work, that, in a typhoon. Those who felt some apprehensiveness for the men aboard the salvage tug will at least be relieved to know to-day that a British cruiser is close at hand, pushing through the smother. It is pleasant for British people to recall such episodes as that in which H.M.S.
 Suffolk participated off Pratas when she took aboard the entire crew of the City of Cambridge, and the even more daring seamanship required in the saving of the lives of those aboard the U.S.S.
 Fulton when she burned to a shell in Blas Bay. The men of these ships live up to their traditions.

TALKING TO INDIA

Lord Willingdon, Viceroy of India, recently announced: "My Government has decided to proceed as quickly as possible with the erection of a large transmitting station in New Delhi, which will broadcast entertainments in Urdu and English. This, we hope, will prove to be only the first step toward the establishment of a complete system of broadcasting covering the whole of India, under which the provinces will have the benefit of the expression of their own culture in their own languages, with an added element of English programme matter." The hitherto almost undisputed sway of the Oriental story-teller in India is about to be challenged, and the 200,000,000 inhabitants of the great Empire, or a good part of them, will presently be able to listen to loud-speaker music and concerts just as "Mr. and Mrs.
 Smiddy" and their friends. The radio will reach more people than any form of written literature, for the vast majority of these people are villagers, illiterate of the soil, quite unable to read. Yet all of them have imaginations of a live-liness to which there is really nothing comparable in the western world. The long, hot nights are scarcely conducive to sleep, but afford, under dense foliaged trees, infinite opportunity for social gatherings and for talk.

FIELD FOR SOWING

Heretofore the Indian agitator has been the man who could best take advantage of this state of affairs. Something has been done by the Government of India since 1911, by means of news agency and other enterprise, to counter some of the grosser forms of subversive activity through the written word. But the problem of approaching the masses by means of the spoken word has never been solved. Until now! And this talk from the air will have a novelty which must appeal to the peasant people. Of course, the task of the broadcaster is unique, owing to the multitudinous nature of India's tongues and dialects.
 But a great field of opportunity lies open. Lord Willingdon, in approaching it, is taking a road well calculated to succeed. The new radio station at Delhi is only beginning to take shape, but it initiates an experiment of vast possibility not only in India, but wherever corresponding social conditions prevail.

TRADE DOLDRUMS

The facts disclosed in Lloyd's annual report will be read with mixed feelings. The total of shipping laid up has fallen from 12, 000,000 tons last June and 15,000,
 000 in 1932 to no more than 3,000,
 000. That in itself is clearly a good thing. There is less unemployed shipping; the number of ships in existence is less extravagantly out of proportion than it was to the amount of trade there is for them to carry, says the London News Chronicle. But this result has been obtained almost entirely by scrapping ships; correctly not by increasing the volume of freights. We may be nearer equilibrium in the shipping world; but it is an equilibrium in poverty. This apparently permanent shrinkage in international trade is a very grave matter; and the indisputable evidence of it which this report furnishes is a comment on Mr. Shakespeare's usual Geneva, in the name of the British Government, to entertain the idea of a new inquiry into world economic problems. The time, he said, was "not ripe" for such an inquiry. When will it be ripe?

MEN WITHOUT HANDS
CIVILISATION'S CURSE

BY SIR HERBERT BARKER

ONE of the penalties that man is paying for the immense advantages of the machine age is the loss of manual skill. It is a loss which we do not yet fully appreciate.
 Whereas in earlier ages man wrought with his two hands and few men could not boast some manual ability, to-day the man who possesses that skill has become the exception.
 We lament the passing of the handicrafts, but do we really understand just what their passing involves?

I suggest that it is not merely a matter of so much joy in creative work lost, but that with the loss of manual skill has gone some degree of mental capacity.
 Nine children out of ten, given the opportunity, possess creative ability. Nine children out of ten are denied the opportunity for its development.

One instance will illustrate the truth of this statement. Professor Cizek, of the Viennese Academy of Art, started infant and juvenile art classes. They were no part of the academic enterprise, but were purely personal to a great teacher.

Professor Cizek went to work on the theory that children require merely the opportunity and a little guidance to turn to creative play in the form of art.

He did not teach art, but rather went forward clearing for his little people a path through the obstacles of their home environment.

The result was the most astonishing phenomenon in the world of art of our time. These children of Professor Cizek's classes produced almost unaided very fine work, both in draughtsmanship and colour.

To supply a child with a fine box of paints and all the necessary accessories, however, is not to assure a surprising artistic result.

In the case of the Viennese children art began with the creation of the tools of art—i.e., as a handicraft. Brushes had to be made, wood carving tools devised.
 Anyone who knows these children is aware that this experiment has resulted in enhancing intelligence and the capacity for self-occupation without elaborate mechanical devices.

This is education in the widest sense of the term, for it is the development of brain and hand working in happy conjunction.
 What is the major difficulty with all young children in our schools?
 It is what teachers refer to as "fidgeting"—the incessant protest of the idle hand, its rebellion against the denial of opportunity.

I refer, of course, to the old manner of teaching, for, happily, nowadays teachers are waking to the fact that the alert and happy child is he or she who has manual skill and the opportunity for the exercise of it.

Darwin's mind was dormant until he had the opportunity to use his two hands and, through their agency, to acquire that superb knowledge of natural history that resulted in his great and epoch-making synthesis.

If we accept the proposition that the man who lives most fully is the happiest, then the need for the education of the hands becomes very apparent.

There is in nearly every human being a latent desire to create.
 There goes with it, very often, the disabling circumstance of lack of ability. When that is the case who got the thwarted individual who so often complains of boredom.

He does not care greatly for books, and he cannot do any creative task with his two hands.
 And that is the tragedy of countless thousands who must, perforce, earn their living in our complex and highly specialised age in some form of mechanical labour.

Every child in our modern world should possess at least one handicraft; every adult should practise some form of craft or art.

The case for this is not based merely on the ground that such a transformation of universal habit would increase the happiness of our people. It is based, also, on the fact that it would increase the cultural level, the intellectual standard.

Consider, for one moment, the most successful among your friends. Then imagine him, in the light of your knowledge of his manual abilities, marooned on a fertile island.

Could he survive? Could he devise primitive tools, find water and secure it, turn up land and make it fruitful, and shape from the growing timber a house in which to live, a boat in which to sail?

I think you will find that the answer is that he could not. For two reasons. He would not know how to return to those conditions of the infancy of the human race and in them flourish. And his mind would suffer a blankness and despair, deprived of the glittering and familiar and complex machinery of our age of men without hands.

ANTI-CANCER
RESEARCHGerman Doctor's Discoveries

The recent announcement that Dr. W. von Boehmer, the German scientist and medical practitioner, had discovered the cause of cancer, was received with profound interest, not only in Britain but throughout the world.

Notwithstanding the enormous amounts of money spent on the fight against cancer, this scourge has shown no sign of diminishing its hold on mankind. Dr. Bremer is a member of the National Biological Institute at Berlin-Dahlem and director of its anatomical laboratory. He has already spent a number of years on cancer research and did not submit the results achieved by him until he had asked the most prominent experts to examine them.
 By means of special injections he succeeded in making the germs visible under microscope and even in producing cultures of them which brought about all the symptoms typical of cancer when injected into animals.

The discovery of the fact that cancer is a bacillary disease and not—as he had been generally thought in recent years—a virus disease is bound to lead to a decisive change in treatment.

So far the medical world has not been able to subject the sensational results published by Dr.
 Bremer to large-scale tests; and it is very probable that a considerable period will elapse before the new therapy will be universally applied.

For the love of Mikel Can't you whistle "My Other Tune?"

The Very Idea!
GODS AND WINE

By George

DEAR George,
 I was reading, Mr.
 Montargis' talk on wine,
 the "Gold and purple nectar, of the Gods" and I must say things seem to have changed since my young days.

Why, we used to come out of the Gods at half time and be glad if we could manage a half pint of bitter at the Bakers Arms. If any of us had asked for wine we would have been cut right away for not sitting in the stalls.

As for the purple it's a sign of blue devils and I'm sure I can eat a chicken with Chateau Ausone or any other ozone for that matter.

I don't know what's come over people these days. They have to have a sport to make them thirsty; cocktails to keep them thirsty; drinks to quench their thirst and then pick-me-ups to get them in shape for the next knock-me-downs.

I don't know whether it's a result of the past war or a propensity for the next.

Some people say it's the thirst for knowledge but I can't believe that or my old man would have been Prime Minister with the thirst that he satisfied over 60 years of devoted labour. to the tank.

They say that wine improved with age but the old man always said he could keep it best himself. However he used to work so hard on occasions that he couldn't keep it all.

He prided himself on being correct like and would never drink wine without a bouquet.
 The house used to be littered with flowers after a heavy night's sitting.

For myself I am content with the homely joys of life and often quote to myself that famous old verse of "Oh Ma! Co' home," translated by Mr. Fitzgibbon or somebody like him.

A hunk of bread upon my brow,
 A slice of cheese from off a fragrant cow;

I'd be beside myself in such a mess.

'Twere happiness enough now and how!

Your Auntie Emma.

RIFF-RAFF INVADING HONGKONG

THREAT OF PRISON FOR RUSSIAN

MAGISTRATE'S WARNING

"I am getting sick and tired of all riff-raff of the Far East coming to Hongkong without proper passports," remarked Mr. E. W. Hamilton in the Central Police Court this morning when Boris Perlos, 38, a Russian, who described himself as a merchant, was charged with entering the Colony without a valid passport.

The defendant, pleading guilty, stated that he was only passing through Hongkong on his way from Shanghai to Canton. He did not need to have a visa.

Sergeant C. Mottram, prosecuting, stated that on a previous occasion he travelled from Canton to Shanghai and had a visa dated January 26. On this occasion, the defendant had been ashore when he was picked up.

Replying to his Worship, Perlos said he was a merchant dealing in second-hand goods.

His Worship: Do the Police know anything about him?

Sergeant Mottram: We know of him, your Worship.

The magistrate passed sentence of three months' hard labour.

Defendant: I want to pay a fine, please. I am going to Shanghai to-day. Please, Court, let me pay a fine.

SERIOUS VIEW.

The magistrate: (to Sgt. Mottram): Personally I am going to take a rather serious view of these cases. If the Police, however, desire me to revise the sentence they can apply within seven days. My view is that he should be sent to prison without the option of a fine. Of course, the Police may know more about him than I do.

Later, the defendant was brought back into Court, and the magistrate said: Police represent to me that you have got some business in Shanghai. But he has only come from Shanghai, Sergeant Mottram!

Sgt. Mottram: He wants to get back rather urgently in connection with some house business.

The magistrate: Under the circumstances, the Police having no objection to a fine, I will fine you $100 or in default two months, and make an order for your expulsion. I am not at all sure that I am wise in doing so.

"Thank you, sir. I will never come back," said Perlos.

The magistrate: If you come back here again without a proper passport nothing will save you from going to prison.

GREAT CONTEST BROADCAST

London, Oct. 17. The only French entry in the England-Melbourne Air Race, a Bleriot machine, had to be scratched to-day, as it was badly damaged when landing at Le Bourget this morning on its way to Mildenhall, Suffolk.

To-day's conditions of rain and mist prevented the pilots of twenty aeroplanes assembled at Mildenhall making practice flights.

In the interests of safety the race rules provide that machines must conform substantially with the International Convention on aerial navigation, and technical experts examining machines have decided that several were carrying excessive weight. In these cases, the fuel carried will have to be reduced, with a consequent reduction of range.

Brief speeches by two pilots in the Melbourne Air Race and an eye-witness account of the start from Mildenhall Aerodrome will be broadcast by the B.B.C. on October 20, at 9 a.m., 11.15 a.m., 3 p.m., 8 p.m. and midnight.—British Wireless.

Local estate valued at $24,800 was left by Sun Jun-yau, alias Sun Mo-yu, alias Sun Yik-shu, retired merchant, formerly of 4, Babington Path, who died on May 15, 1934. Probate has been granted to George Sun, merchant, and Edward Wickham Sun, medical doctor, also of Babington Path.

TARIFF BARGAIN HUNTING

Washington, Oct. 17.

The United States to-day bitterly condemns an alleged system of tariff bargaining abroad and at the same time warns commercial enemies.

Under the signature of Mr. Cordell Hull, the Secretary of State, Mr. Phillips, Under-Secretary of the Department, has issued a statement warning certain unnamed nations that indulgence in "the indefensible practice" of raising tariff barriers just before entering into international negotiations for lowering them, and thereby seeking a bargaining advantage, would imperil any negotiations with the United States.

It is indicated in other quarters that the State Department was aware of the fact that many nations had more or less banded together in a series of trade pacts to the exclusion and detriment of the United States.

Mr. Hull has given his word that the United States will not indulge in such tariff raising practices and he added to-day that the Government would seek to negotiate only with nations which shared the United States' opposition to this form of bargaining.—Reuter.

AMERICAN PEOPLE'S NEW WEALTH

(Special to "Telegraph")

(The Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphs Ltd., 1934, Oct. 18, 10.10 a.m.)

Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 17. Miss Frances Perkins, the Secretary for Labour, speaking here to-day, said that since March, 1933, industrial employment in the United States had increased by 35 per cent., and the pay rolls of the nation had been swelled by 63 per cent., which was equivalent to the addition of U.S. $73,000,000 to the purchasing power of the people.

As long as the country kept on the present road, it must come out of the valley of depression, she said, for the direction must obviously be correct.—United Press.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

GREAT MINDS ERRECT THEIR NEVER-FAILING TROPHIES ON THE FIRM BASE OF MERCY.—Massinger.

Two cases of diphtheria and one case of meningitis were reported to the local health authorities on Tuesday.

A woman, Lam Kin-yu, aged 24, of No. 8 Yau On Terrace, was removed to the Government Civil Hospital yesterday suffering from the effects of iodine poisoning which she drank in error.

Many friends of Miss Della Pestonji, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Pestonji, of 8, Humphreys Buildings, gathered at her residence yesterday to offer congratulations on the attainment of her majority. The event was celebrated with a coming-of-age party, when the large gathering toasted the health of Miss Pestonji.

Convicted on a charge of the theft of a gold wrist watch from a woman living at No. 81 Chia Yan Street, Quarry Bay district, a concubine, Chan Sau-chung, aged 17, was bound over by Mr. Hamilton in the Central Magistrate's Court this morning. "Please let this be a lesson to you," remarked his Worship. Sergeant Kelly was for the prosecution.

RABIES MENACE REMOVED

FINES REDUCED FOR DOG OFFENDERS

MUZZLING STILL NECESSARY

Two Europeans were summoned before Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning, for allowing their dogs abroad without a muzzle.

Mrs. J. Quereau, No. 5 Balfour Street, appeared in answer to a summons for allowing a black and white pointer dog abroad in Knight Street, on September 25. Defendant stated that the dog had only run about on a vacant lot of land at the back of her house.

At this stage His Worship said that, as an experiment, he was going to reduce the fines for unmuzzled dogs from $25 to $10, as the dog owners in Kowloon were taking more care of their dogs, and there had been no cases of rabies since June. If, however, it was necessary, the fines would be increased.

Defendant was fined $10.

Mr. Dalphan, of 69, Nathan Road, was also summoned for a similar offence, and with a further offence of keeping a dog without a licence. When the case was called, Miss J. Fernandez, who appeared in court, stated that the dog belonged to her, and had nothing to do with Mr. Dalphan. She stated that she resided at the same address, which was the Station Hotel, and it was possible that the dog had followed Mr. Dalphan into the hotel. She further stated that she had taken out a licence for the dog some time in June.

The summons was then amended and she was fined $10 for allowing her dog abroad without a muzzle. The second charge was dismissed.

DR. KUNG SOON TO EXPLAIN POLICY

Shanghai, Oct. 18. It is reliably learned that the Chinese financial leaders have submitted a plan to Dr. H. H. Kung in connection with the control of silver exchange. The plan provides that the Chinese banks contribute towards establishing a "Silver Exchange Equalisation Fund" to be placed in charge of a special committee.

Dr. Kung is reported to have promised to consider this scheme.—Central News.

MINISTRY SATISFIED

Shanghai, Oct. 17. Dr. H. H. Kung, Finance Minister, who is busy attending to his routine business at the Shanghai Office of the Central Bank of China, made a statement to the press this afternoon regarding monetary problems of China.

He said that as a result of the sudden cessation of the outflow of silver since the imposition of the ten per cent. duty on silver exports, Chinese currency was showing signs of gradual stabilisation. Up to the present, he was satisfied with the situation, and therefore deemed it unnecessary to take any other action in dealing with the silver situation.

Dr. Kung declared that the Currency Readjustment Committee was engaged in drawing up plans for the improvement and unification of Chinese currency. As soon as its work was completed, the Central Government would take action.

Dr. Kung will hold a foreign press reception at his Shanghai residence on Friday in order to make a detailed explanation of the Chinese Government's silver policy.—Central News.

HISHIKAR'S WARNING

WILL TOLERATE NO AGITATION

Changechun, Oct. 18. No concession will be made by the Japanese military in regard to the plan for the reorganisation of Japanese administrative organs in Manchuria. This is shown by the fact that General Hishikari, Commander-in-Chief of the Kwantung Army and concurrently Japanese Ambassador to Manchukuo, has summoned the chiefs of the Financial, Police and General Affairs Departments of the Kwantung Administration to Changechun from Dairen for the purpose of ordering them to persuade the staff members of all ranks not to continue agitation against the enforcement of the reorganisation plan, otherwise drastic measures might be taken.—Central News.

Borderers Runners-Up In The Area League

MRS. CANNON PRESENTS PRIZES

At Sookumpoo on Tuesday, H. Q. Wing South Wales Borderers won the challenge match for the Area Tennis League Runners-up Shield by beating "A" Coy. of the Lincolnshire Regiment.

When the match was concluded, Captain P. S. Cannon, A. E. C. President of the Area Tennis Committee for the past three years, gave a brief resume of military tennis activities during the past season.

Referring to the organization of the league he voiced a general appreciation of the efforts of the Hon. Secretary and the Committee in keeping things running despite the heavy handicap imposed by the weather. He thanked the teams for their promptness in turning up to play their matches. As regards the Kowloon Section they had on that side a staunch assistant to the Secretary in Colour Sergeant Robinson of the Lincolnshire to whom the thanks of all were due.

Congratulating the winners of the League and the tournaments, Captain Cannon remarked that they fully deserved their success.

In connection with the team of Other Ranks playing in the "C" Division of the Hongkong Lawn Tennis League it was pleasing to note that they had had a fairly good season. Teams had been turned out on all occasions for matches despite the fact that the best players were not available owing to military tennis but in winning nine matches they had not done too badly.

In conclusion he wished to extend grateful farewell to the South Wales Borderers during whose stay the standard of tennis in military circles had improved until it was the usual thing to see their players competing in final events. Referring to R.Q.M.S. Jarman in particular, Captain Cannon mentioned that for three years he had carried out the onerous duties of Hon. Secretary and worked hard to further the standard of tennis.

PRIZE-WINNERS.

Mrs. Cannon then presented the prizes as follows:—

Area League Runners-up Shield (With Miniatures for the Team)—H. Q. Wing, S.W.B. (Lt. Col. A. E. Williams, D.S.O., Major Gottwald, R.Q.M.S. Jarman, C.S.M. Hamden, Lt. Col. Davies and Drummer Jones).

As a memento of winning the Kowloon Section of the League, the members of the team of "A" Coy. 1st Bn. Lincolnshire Regiment were presented with small cups.

(Cps: Ridley & Berriman, L. Cpls. Sutton, Toyns and Higgins and Private Harper).

Winners—S.W.B. (R.Q.M.S. Jarman and L. Cpl. Davies).

Runners-up—R.A.O.C. (S. Condr. Gillow and S. Sgt. Taylor).

Winner—S.W.B. (R.Q.M.S. Jarman).

Scheduled For Feb.

WINNER MEETS MAX BAER

New York, Oct. 13.

Officials of the Madison Square Garden Corporation announced to-day that negotiations have been closed for a 15-round bout between Art Lasky, Minneapolis heavy, and Max Schmeling of Germany, in February, to be staged either in New York or Miami.

Garden officials indicated the winner of the set-to, expected to be a ring natural, will meet Max Baer, Liverpool playboy, for the world's heavyweight championship.

Lasky was chosen by Garden officials to meet the German, despite protests from Steve Hamas, former Penn State athlete, because of Hamas' refusal to meet either Lasky or Schmeling in return matches.

Hamas, regarded as a dangerous opponent of any fighter of his weight, defeated both Schmeling and Lasky in his last two starts, first the German and then the Minneapolis "Wildcat" as Lasky is known in the squared circle.

The former Penn State athlete, who has brilliant victories over such fighters as Tommy Loughran and Lee Ramaker, crossed gloves with Schmeling on February 13 this year, giving the German, former world's champion, a neat trimming in 12 rounds. Then followed the Lasky encounter, wherein Hamas emerged triumphant after handing the Minneapolis lad a sound drubbing in 10 heats.

It was originally believed that the winner of the Lasky-Hamas brawl would meet Baer for the championship. Hamas defeated Lasky, hence the Hamas' loud protests against a Lasky-Schmeling set-to.

If Schmeling wins over Lasky and eventually gains the right to exchange wallop with the Liverpool butcher boy, the German will be facing the same man who technically knocked him out in the tenth round of a scheduled 15-round bout in June last year.

It was Baer's smashing victory over Schmeling that enabled him to meet Primo Carnera of Italy for the heavyweight title, which he annexed by subjecting the huge Italian to severe punishment and technically knocking him out in the 11th round of their encounter.

If Lasky defeats Schmeling, the Minneapolis lad will meet for the first time Carnera's conqueror for the world's crown.

Lasky previously fought Carnera, the bout ending in a no-decision contest.

Davis Leads

WORLD'S BILLIARDS CHAMPIONSHIP

Melbourne, Oct. 17.

With a great recovery after his second day's set-back, Joe Davis (England) struck form to-day to play the figure made by Walter Lindrum (Australia) in the final of the world's billiards championship.

At the close of to-day's session, Davis reached 5,782, having scored breaks of 728, 628, 559, 398 and 292; while Lindrum was 5,804, with breaks of 630 and 548.

Davis was sparkling in the afternoon session and wiped out his deficit and led by one point. Lindrum was out of touch and missing easy shots.

JONES BEING SENT OUT TO LEFT WING

(By "Veritas").

There are some things which defy the imagination. And one, I should think, is to see Mullane, the steadiest right back in the Colony, playing in any other position. Yet those who care to visit Sookumpoo on Sunday will have the opportunity of seeing Mullane vacate the defence and appear in the forward line against the Recreio.

Still beset with team-building problems owing to injured players, the Borderers, having experimented with Morrison as inside right, have now decided to give Mullane a run out in this position.

Tratt has again been selected to play in goal, as Smith is still in hospital. But if Smith can report at before Sunday, he will take over two custodianship, happily the Borderers have an excellent deputy in Tratt, and his first appearance in senior football last week was quite a success.

The half back line remains unaltered, but in addition to Mullane's entry into the attack, the forward line has been further changed.

"Hooker" Jones is giving up his inside left position to appear on the wing, and Morris will be his partner. Forney and Mathias, of course, remain as before.

It is now definite that Duncan, former left winger, will not play football again in Hongkong, but Mazzewoo is making slow progress towards recovery, and is expected to re-appear in the team about the beginning of November.

RECREIO STILL SHORT.

The Recreio, who are the Borderers' opponents on Sunday will again take the field without A. V. Gosano, while Beltrao is still unfit. However, Marques, former goalkeeper, returns to assume those duties.

Last week's positional changes proved such a success that they are being persisted with, which means that Bernal Gosano is again at centre-half, and C. Santos at inside left. H. Sousa retains the centre-forward berth, supported on the right by J. Gomes.

South China are hoping to field their full strength "A" team against the Navy on Sunday, while the "B" team, to do service against St. Joseph's on Saturday will also be unaltered unless there are any last minute withdrawals.

The Club visitors to the Lincolns at Sookumpoo, are relying on the same team which drew with the Athletic last week, and Kowloon are also "as before" against the East Lancashires.

The Borderers' second and third divisions teams will be the same as last week. Simmonds will again lead the attack in the second string vice Morris, who has been promoted to the senior outfit, while Court will go in at left half in place of Felix in the third team.

Here are some of the teams selected for the week-end.

FIRST DIVISION.

Club:—Rodger; Gamble and Strange; Tavlin, Pote-Hunt and A. Duncan; Fowler, Drown, Howe, E. Strange and Baldwin.

Recreio:—E. Marques; R. Silva-Netto and J. Bowen; N. Delgado, B. Gosano and B. Marques; T. Castilho, J. Gomes, H. Sousa, C. Santos and J. Alves.

Borderers:—Tratt (or Smith); Horbert and Morrison; Davies, Pedmore and Underwood; Mathias, Mullane, Forty, Morris and Jones.

South China "A":—Wong Wing; Li Tin-sang and Lau Man; Leung Wing-chai, Wong Mee-shun and Li Kwok-wai; Tso Kwai-shing, Tam Kong-pak, Fung King-cheung, Tay Quai-tong and Ip Pak-wah.

South China "B":—Lau Chung; Chung Chi-ying and Yu Hing-yung; Yau Wah-ling, Lim Tak-po and Han Ny-yung; Young Shui-yic, Li Shue-wang, Tsang King-ka, Ching Shek-lam, and Lai Shek-yun.

Kowloon:—Corr; Everest and Eastman; Gilchrist, Bliss and Whitehead; Knox, Elliott, G. White, V. White and Knox.

MRS. COLLACO AND MRS. FISHER CHAMPIONS

ALL FOUR CONTESTANTS PLAY BELOW FORM

Shanghai, Oct. 10. Mrs. Collaco added another win to her long list of victories when she and Mrs. Fisher won the ladies' grass court doubles championship against Mrs. Krenov and Mrs. Ovadia. It was an easy win, 6-2, 6-4.

Both the victors played good tennis and the match would not have been so one-sided had Mrs. Ovadia played her general game. She was completely off and failed to make many points, thus lending little aid to Mrs. Krenov who was playing her side up and had very little breathing space as both her opponents were playing to her continually on the back line. Mrs. Ovadia at the net was disappointing. She even failed to put the easy shots over.

Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Krenov, who were both playing well back, had a number of good rallies between them. Mrs. Collaco generally finished these off with a swift overhead net shot. Her backhand strokes were very effective and it seemed as though she put more force into these strokes than her forehand drives.

The first set was slow and uninteresting. All the long rallies were generally being won by Mrs. Collaco, who smashes so effectively. Mrs. Fisher took the first service but lost it. Mrs. Krenov also lost her service and Mrs. Collaco took the third game on her service. These were the only two games that Mrs. Krenov and Mrs. Ovadia were able to win during this set. Mrs. Collaco and Mrs. Fisher finished the set in excellent style. Mrs. Ovadia hardly touched a ball during this, her opponents concentrating on her partner. Though bearing the brunt of the game, Mrs. Krenov did not falter once and deserved the applause that she received for her efforts.

SECOND SET TAKEN.

Mrs. Collaco won her service in the second set but Mrs. Krenov also won hers. Mrs. Fisher lost hers to allow her opponents to lead 2-1. Mrs. Collaco and Mrs. Fisher soon caught up and took the lead 3-2. Mrs. Krenov won her service again and drew level. Each side won their service until four all when Mrs. Collaco and Mrs. Fisher went ahead and won again 6-4.

Mrs. Ovadia seemed to improve slightly in this last set and had one or two good rallies. Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Krenov deserve most of the honours for this match. They had "back court covered" whilst both Mrs. Collaco and Mrs. Ovadia covered the net and it was only occasionally that they had occasion to return a ball, most of them going over their heads and being taken by either Mrs. Krenov or Mrs. Fisher.

On the whole the match was fairly good but did not come up to the expectations of the few spectators. The four ladies are well known in the local tennis world and were capable of putting up a much better showing.

When Stokes Was Given A "Life"

"IT WAS A QUEER FEELING"

"We have laid a sound foundation," said L. F. Stokes to The Shanghai Times as he was stripping off his pads at the conclusion of his brilliant innings of the Interport cricket match against Hongkong.

On being congratulated for his storied display of batsmanship, the best seen for many years, Stokes appeared embarrassed.

"McInnes' catch was perfect. How on earth he managed to hold the ball with both hands behind his neck I do not know. It was superb," he chanced the subject. Stokes was referring to the catch with which McInnes retired him.

McInnes, fielding at cover, ran to hold the ball which Stokes had skied past mid-on. Misjudging the drop, this holder with his back to the ball, and no time to turn, was forced to catch the ball with both hands behind his neck. The catch brought prolonged applause from the crowded pavilion.

HIS "LIFE"

"It was a queer feeling—waiting," Stokes answered, asked how he felt when he gave the first chance as he was on the point of scoring his century.

The chance was fumbled and dropped by H. W. Baines, and Stokes carried on past his century and stayed to score his 161 runs.

"It was awfully tiring out there," he concluded.

Stokes batted for 8 hours 20 minutes to score a total which put Shanghai in a sound position.

TRAGIC FOOTBALL MATCH

What was probably the most tragic football match ever played in England took place last week at Wrexham, the scene of the great colliery disaster.

Many of the 260 miners who were engulfed by the terrible explosion in the Gresford pit in the early hours of Saturday morning were at work merely because they wished to see the Wrexham Transmere Rovers match on Saturday afternoon, and had obtained the management's permission to work a substitute shift through the night in order to be free on the following day.

When the Transmere team arrived at Wrexham on the Saturday morning they suggested that the game should be cancelled, but they were persuaded to play when it was pointed out to them that if only the heart-broken relatives and friends of the entombed miners, who had maintained their hopeless vigil at the pit-head since early dawn, could be tempted to watch the game for an hour or so it would be a merciful thing. So play proceeded, sadly enough, while among the 12,000 spectators were many weeping women who had still to learn the fate of their men-folk under ground.

Now and again, the crowd managed to raise a half-hearted cheer, and Wrexham played gallantly to draw at 2-2 after the Rovers had led 2-1 at the interval. But, as one reporter wrote, "It wasn't a match, only a magnificent gesture."

A. H. BAKAR BATS BRILLIANTLY FOR ST. JOSEPH'S

A fine innings of 93 by A. H. Bakar of St. Joseph's College featured the cricket match at Sookunpoo yesterday afternoon between St. Joseph's College and Queen's College. The former won by five wickets. The batting first, Queen's College made 88, thanks to 33 by M. Afzal and 24 by S. M. Cassim. H. Asome captured seven wickets for 31 runs.

St. Joseph's knocked off the necessary runs for victory with five wickets in hand. Apart from Bakar, only H. Asome (26) impressed among the winning team.

Afzal and Cassim followed up their batting performances by taking the majority of the wickets for their side. Scores:

INTERPORT GOLF

SHANGHAI LEADS IN FOURSOMES

SINGLES TO-DAY

Shanghai, Oct. 17. Shanghai led Hongkong by two matches to one in the two-ball foursomes at the close of the first day of the Interport golf played here to-day.

The weather was fine and the greens were fast.

Detailed results were as follows: B. Logan and J. W. Harrison (Shanghai) beat A. E. Lissaman and D. S. Edward 5 and 4.

T. S. M. Terrace and W. H. C. Huggett (Shanghai) beat E. J. R. Mitchell and A. T. Lay 6 and 5.

T. A. Pearce and P. H. Scoones (Hongkong) beat C. O. Cumming and A. R. Blinks 2 and 1.

In the last match, Cumming and Blinks, the Shanghai pair, were two up at the end of the morning round.

On resumption in the afternoon, Cumming's play fell away and the Hongkong pair were all-square with their Shanghai opponents on the fourteenth hole. Hongkong won the next two and halved the seventeenth and eighteenth holes.

Terrace and Huggett played brilliant golf.

The singles will be played to-morrow.—Reuter.

BY TRICKERY ANYMORE.

The day is past when you can ballyhoo an ordinary picture to the skies and expect crowded houses, such methods always have a reaction. We discovered long ago that the public is "picture wise," now-a-days the public know more about pictures than the theatre managers.

We are just as particular in selecting our programmes as you are in choosing your entertainment, only pictures of exceptional merit are presented at the Oriental, our modest prices also adds extra pleasure to your visit.

London, Oct. 17.
General Smuts, who was to-day installed as Rector of St. Andrew's University, in the course of his address stated that he did not agree with the view that the world was on the verge of another Great War.

He added:—"In the events of the times I see much ground for anxiety, but none for real pessimism. Human nature is not so one-sided or ill-balanced that we need look on our civilisation as doomed. In spite of scoundrelism and of the present lamentable failure of disarmament, in spite of the vogue of silly drilling and strutting about in uniform and shirts of various colours, I do not find the real war temper anywhere."

Mr. Stanley Baldwin, as Chancellor of the University, presided at General Smuts' installation.—British Wireless.

BETTY COMPSON

Betty Compton, Hollywood's most glamorous movie picture star, will make a personal appearance at the Alhambra Theatre beginning to-morrow at 9.20 p.m. in conjunction with her own act which will last for half an hour.

Miss Compton, star of more than two hundred silent and talking pictures, is the first well-known movie star to ever appear at any theatre in the Far East. Outside of being in Hollywood's most glamorous personality Miss Compton also won the title of "The Queen of Poverty Road." Miss Compton made hundreds of thousands of dollars in Hollywood's "Poverty Road" as it was called because producers operating on only small amounts of money did their work there.

Appearing with Miss Compton are the team of Cowan and Bailey, two of the biggest headliners in vaudeville in the United States. The above should be a real treat to the people of Hongkong.

HARBOUR MISHAP

Two coolies lost their lives by drowning in the harbour yesterday through a sampan capsizing.

Five passenger boats, each carrying 20 coolie-labourers, had left the military pier at Lyemun to return to Hongkong. In Lyemun Channel, one of the craft got into difficulties and a smaller sampan came to its rescue.

As it got alongside, the coolies attempted to scramble into it in a body, and the result was what might have been expected. Both craft heeled over, and all the occupants were thrown into the water.

A police launch rescued the men, with the exception of two who are believed to have been drowned. A third man was taken to hospital, suffering severely from the experience.
